

GRANDPA'S FAMILY'S LEGENDS

Most people nowadays, when they get serious about searching for their ancestors, read one of those popular little self-help books. City dwellers like myself take short classes. (I took two pretty good ones.) The first thing they tell you is to start with yourself and work back slowly but thoroughly, documenting all your information so that you are pretty positive it is correct. Then you quiz your older relatives, and soon find that most branches have vague old traditions about where the earlier ones came from. You carefully write them down, but can't depend on them except as hearsay.

The old "three brothers" tale is the most common. A century and a half ago when our country was younger, it seems that the most common place of origin of the three brothers was in Lancastershire, England. Next in popularity was Wales, but they might come from anywhere. Another popular story was the fortune waiting back overseas for the lucky descendant who could prove ownership. Or Royal Blood. Or Indian blood or Indian captivity, especially in exposed areas like New Hampshire during the French/Indian War--and occasionally it was true. They say that a kernel of truth generally lies disguised in most such old tales, if you can only dig it out, but that it is not easy.

Speaking from personal experience, my mother's name was Ada White. The Whites were said to have Indian blood and to have been Welsh. The surname had once been spelt differently, Mama thought "Whitte." The earliest of the name they knew for sure was Barney White who was born in New York in 1815 and came to the now midwest. He was married three times. My Great Grandpa, Rev. John Wesley White, was the only surviving child of the second marriage of Barney to "Susanna Griffin," born 20 Feb 1827 in Kentucky. The birthdates of all of the children of the three marriages was given with pretty good but not perfect accuracy, whether they lived or not. John Wesley White, Susanna's oldest child, was born 30 November 1843, day "clear and cold," when she was only sixteen years old, in Clayton Co., IA. The others died as toddlers, perhaps at the same time she did, in some awful epidemic.

Young Rev. White, after serving in the Civil War, married 18-year-old Sarah Jane Averill, a member of his frontier central Iowa congregation and the newly-weds, along with her father's family, migrated to Kansas. The eldest child, My Grandpa William Wesley White, was born in Kansas on New Years Day 1869. Our family search was off to a flying start. You'd be surprised how many families nowadays don't know that much about their origins, and we knew that much to start with--and even more about Grandma's ancestry but that isn't part of this legend.

Let's examine the above. The Whites are a hard case. We haven't found the Indian nor the Welsh origin, nor the "Whitte" spelling--if it was truly Welsh it would be "Wynn" in that language. Barney's death certificate, in Crawford Co. WI in 1899, gives his parents as William and Hannah White, both born in Canada, and his birthplace as Buffalo NY, an impossibility since British-inspired Indians had just burnt down the little village which would become Buffalo shortly before, as War of 1812 action. We suppose he meant that general area. And if William and Hannah were born in Ontario so early, they must have been children of United Empire Loyalists, since except for French, those were the only Caucasians there so early. It appears as though if Grandpa truly had Indian ancestry, it probably wasn't in the White line.

My sister Billie and her husband, Allan Pringle Ph.D. were first to start serious genealogy. Not that I didn't want to, but that was before I retired and time was scarce, though I started to make up for it later. They were fortunate to live not far from a state historical library as well as an LDS Stake center, and it did not take them long to find the record of Barney White to Susan Griffith (not Griffin) on 4 August 1842 in Cassville WI, just across the Mississippi River from the Millville IA home of her parents, John W. and Mary Ann (Dial) Griffith. Gradually we learned that in his younger days, Barney had also been a circuit-riding pioneer Methodist minister (though he later gave that up during his third marriage to an older and stronger-willed young lady, Maria Hughbanks). His next set of healthy children by her were about the same age as his son's, and grew up to be rather well educated school teachers, stone masons, farmers, etc. Poor little Susan, who died in her late 20's having borne four children and cared for two stepdaughters, could never have been so strict or so successful with Barney. How I wish I could put my arms around her and make her life easier!

Census records revealed that John W. Griffith was born in fall 1795 in Kentucky, and I found the Clayton County history showing that he was a well-known figure of the beginnings of Clayton Co. WI soon IA Territory, appointed to be the first sheriff by the Wisconsin Territory Governor, his first duty being to take the initial census of 1838. He also took that of 1840, so that some of his nice penmanship was preserved for us via microfilm, a treasure indeed. There are colorful stories about his frontier life. All settlers walked around with rifles over their shoulders the first couple of years because the NW section of Clayton County was still Indian lands--they had signed a treaty to move out soon but were very surly about it and considered quite dangerous. (This shows Indian contact, but not blood.) There was also a tale about the first election. Ballots were made up, but few enough voters present (even though the Wisconsin governor had brought free whiskey) that John W., the sheriff, collected the ballots standing atop an ash hopper with a willow basket donated for the occasion. When some drunken rowdies created a disturbance during the proceedings, John kept order by swinging it down upon them HARD. The ballots went flying and had to be picked up. So much for the prim and proper manners of our ancestors! Besides owning a nice farm, he was a long-time Justice of the Peace and occasionally preached sermons, though more in the order of a Methodist deacon (they called them exhorters) than a real minister. As far as I can tell he was not ordained. He and Mary Ann had about a dozen children, plus some nieces (surname Griffith) whom they raised with their own.

Mormon records gave Billie the name of his wife, whose parents called her "Polly." The Burriss Dial Genealogy starts with her father, David Dyal, and good clues to his ancestry. We found that her brother was born in Jackson Co. TN in 1811 and that she was born in 1804, probably in the same place. The book even tells a little about John W. and his brother Robert P. Griffith, who moved to Perry Co. IL with David's family the year after our Susan's 1827 birth, which was probably in the newly acquired (from the Chickasaws) Jackson Purchase, near Paducah. The clan must have sojourned there a while, for I found a McCracken Co. record of the marriage of Mary Ann's sister Susan (Dial) Dye to a Kentucky man, one

My sister, Alice and her husband, Allan Griffith, were the first to start the society. Not that I didn't want to, but that was before I married and time was scarce. Though I started to make up for it later. They were fortunate to live not far from a state historical library as well as an old store center, and it did not take them long to find the records of many white to black Griffiths (not Griffith) on a August 1895 in Louisville, KY. Just across the Mississippi River from the village is home of her parents, John W. and Mary Ann (Griffith) Griffith. Gradually we learned that in his younger days, Barney had also been a circuit-riding pioneer Methodist minister (though he later gave that up during his third marriage to an older and stronger-willed young lady, Anna (Humphreys)). His next set of healthy children by her were about the same age as his son's, and grew up to be pretty well educated school teachers, stone masons, farmers, etc. Poor little Susan, who died in her late 20's having borne four children and cared for two stepdaughters, could never have been so strict or so successful with Barney. Now I wish I could put my arms around her and take her life easier!

Genealogy records revealed that John W. Griffith was born in fall 1795 in Kentucky, and I found the Clayton County history showing that he was a well-known figure of the beginnings of Clayton Co., Iowa Territory, appointed to be the first sheriff by the Wisconsin Territory Governor, his first duty being to take the first-ever census of 1850. He also took that of 1860, so that some of his nice penmanship was preserved for us via microfilm, a treasure indeed. There are colorful stories about his frontier life. All settlers walked around with rifles over their shoulders the first couple of years because the few sections of Clayton County were still Indian lands--they had signed a treaty to move out soon but were very early about it and considered quite dangerous. (This shows Indian contact, but not blood.) There was also a colorful tale about the first election. Ballots were made up, but few enough voters present (even though the Wisconsin governor had brought along whiskey) that John W., the sheriff, collected the ballots standing atop a barrel, in a large old straw hat donated for the occasion. When some drunken rowdies created a disturbance during the proceedings, John kept order by swinging the hat down upon them. And. The ballots went flying and had to be picked up. So much for the prize and proper manners of our ancestors! Besides owning a nice farm, he was a long-time Justice of the Peace and occasionally preached sermons, though not in the order of a Methodist pastor (they called them exhorters) than a real minister. As far as I can tell he was not ordained. He and Mary Ann had about a dozen children, plus some nieces (Barney's Griffith) whom they raised with their own.

Genealogy records and given the name of John's wife, whom her parents called "Alice". The surname that necessarily starts with her father, David Griffith, and soon clues to his ancestry. We found that her brother was born in Jackson Co. MO in 1811 and that she was born in 1804, probably in the same place. The book even tells a little about John W. and his brother Robert I. Griffith, who moved to Perry Co. IL with David's family shortly after our Susan's 1815 birth, which was probably in the Jackson Purchase (from the Chickasaws) Jackson Purchase, near Saluda. The clue must have followed there a while, for I found a record name of the 1825 marriage of Mary Ann's sister Susan (Griffith) to a Kentucky man, one of the first marriages recorded there, and earlier than the genealogy supposes. We will not go deeply into the Dyal history, except to say they came from South Carolina and were hard-working frontier farmers, certainly not gentility. The only tradition of that family that I have found (and it may possibly be true) is that they sprang long ago from a younger-son branch of the Norman English baronial family, the D'Oylleys. They were not Welsh and though Indian blood is possible, they have no tradition of it. I later learned that the reason the LDS records feature the Dials is that Mary Ann's brother William was ancestor of a Mormon bishop. In fact, while in Utah a few years ago I had a long chat with a gentleman who had dined at Bishop Dial's home and been very impressed.

But before going on to the Griffiths, we must be thorough and rule out Grandpa's mother's line as carrier of the Welsh & Indian blood. We are blessed with a beautiful Averill Genealogy, one of the best I have read, by Clara Avery, which is quite interesting and thoroughly documented. It takes the family back to Worcestershire, England, in the 1500's. Good New England vital records and books trace all the Averill wives and their entwining branches back to British colonists who came over in the 1630's. But wait--starting about 1850 other authors put out less well-researched books claiming the family got its start when three Averill brothers emigrated from Wales to Connecticut! It was not too hard to discover the truth in that particular three-brothers legend, for three brothers (neglecting to mention a sister) went to CT from Massachusetts, not Wales. There really was some Welsh blood, for our Isaac, one of the brothers, married the grand-daughter of a Richard Bowen from Glamorganshire, Wales. And his son Moses (member of the CT State legislature representing Litchfield Co. CT during the Revolution and thus enabling Billie or me or our descendants to join the DAR if we want to) married Martha Cogswell. The ship that brought the Cogswells over in 1635 from England was moored off the coast of Milford Haven, Wales, for many weeks in an unusual calm, waiting for winds so they could sail. So you see that time has a way of twisting facts, but sometimes you can find the source.

Moses Averill's oldest son Elias had moved to NY where he was a (Commisary) General during the War. (Soldiers sometimes called him "Elijah Avery.") But our ancestor was little then-- Philo Averill, the guy who migrated west (and a colorful character he was) was born in 1768. He was twice widowed with five very young children on his hands while still in his 20's. He married our ancestress, Rebecca (or Rebekah) Cropsey, a widow, born 1775 in New York, daughter of Captain George Rice. Now, I have searched for years and years. Many Rices were Rev. War officers, but no George, so I think he must have gone by a different first name and used George in the family, unless the Averill Genealogy has the name wrong. Rice is indeed a Welsh surname (spelled Rhys in Welsh) but I am not at all sure he was our Welshman because many Rices in Saratoga Co. where his daughter was living were descended from Edmund Rice who came over from England about 1635. This family was not the type to have Indian blood. Like Maria Hugbanks, Rebecca was tough enough to hold her own, a good pioneeress who raised healthy children. Son Norman Chancellor Averill. (Sarah Jane Averill White's father) was the first white child born in Vevay, Indiana, in 1815. He married Martha Clayton whose mother was a Vest, of a Virginia family. They went to Illinois to get War of 1812 bounty lands, and came by way of Jonesborough eastern TN, camping all the way, with the family of a Methodist preacher. All devout Methodists, no Indians or Welsh.

of the first marriage described there, and earlier than the genealogy purported. We will not go deeply into the history, except to say they came from South Carolina and were hard-working frontier farmers, certainly not wealthy. The only tradition of that family that I have found (and it may possibly be true) is that they came from a line a younger son of the Norman family, a Norman family, and they were not Welsh and though Indian blood is possible, they have no tradition of it. I later learned that the reason the records feature the name is that Mary Ann's brother William was ancestor of a woman bishop. In fact, while in Utah a few years ago I had a long chat with a gentleman who had lived at Bishop Blair's home and been very impressed.

But before going on to the Griffiths, we must be thorough and rule out the other's mother's line as carrier of the Welsh & Indian blood. We are blessed with a beautiful Averill genealogy, one of the best I have read, by Clara Avery, which is quite interesting and thoroughly documented.
It takes the family back to Worcestershire, England, in the 1500's.
Good New England type, and looks trace all the Averill wives and their English birth back to British colonists who came over in the 1600's. But wait--starting about 1850 other authors put out well-researched books claiming the family got its start when some Averill brothers emigrated from Wales to Connecticut. It was not too hard to discover the truth in that particular case--brothers James, for three brothers (beginning to mention a sister) went to CT from Massachusetts, not Wales. There really was some Welsh blood, for our James, one of the brothers, married the grand-daughter of a Richard Powers from Massachusetts, Wales. And his son James (member of the CT State legislature representing Litchfield Co. CT during the Revolution and thus enabling him to be one of our descendants to join the line if we want to) married Martha Cogswell. The ship that brought the Cogswells over in 1635 from England was moored off the coast of Africa seven, Wales, for many weeks in an unusual calm, waiting for winds so they could sail. So you see that line has a way of twisting facts, but sometimes you can find the source.

James Averill's oldest son Elias had moved to NY where he was a (Commandant) General during the War. (Soldiers sometimes called him "Elias" Avery.) But our ancestor was little then. This Averill, the guy who emigrated west (and a colorful character he was) was born in 1768. He was twice widowed with five very young children on his hands while still in his 30's. He married our ancestor, Rebecca (or Rebekah) Trotter, a widow, born 1775 in New York, daughter of Captain George Rice.
Now, I have searched for years and years. Many Rices were Rev. War officers, but no George, so I think he must have gone by a different first name and used George in the family, unless the Averill genealogy has the name wrong. Alice is indeed a Welsh surname (spelled Rhys in Welsh) but I am not at all sure he was our Welshman because many of those in Sarsaparilla Co. where his daughter was living were descended from Edmund Rice who came over from England about 1635. This family was not the type to have Indian blood. Like Maria Rughbanks, Rebecca was smart enough to hold her own, a good pioneeress who raised healthy children. So our ancestor Averill, (James) James Averill (Alice's father) was the first white child born in Nevada, Indiana, in 1810.
He married Martha Clayton whose mother was a Vest, of a Virginia family which went to Illinois to get away of 1812 money lands, and came by way of Tennessee through eastern TN, crossing all the way, with the family of a Methodist preacher. Good Methodist, no Indian or Welsh blood.

It having been not all that difficult to find John W. Griffith's wife, we figured it would be a snap to search about in Kentucky and find our Griffiths. It wasn't. It took years and years, and of course the idea of looking for them in Tennessee would have seemed silly until Allan, looking for Dials, found them there. But in the meantime we considered every Griffith we could find in Kentucky. almost decided certain were ours, and found they weren't. Due to the current popularity of that religion there were several John Wesley Griffiths, but they all married someone else. Hoping the marriage of his parents was published and that it was in that state, I committed to memory all of the early Kentucky marriages which could conceivably be in the right time frame, read up on those people if I could find them, and was always in the end disappointed. Of course Samuel Griffith and Sally Teater were one of the couples but he was not the subject of any stories. Billie tried just as hard and had the same luck. Then I read an obscure article about Iowa early pioneer families and that a Teater family there had Griffith roots, and knowing by heart that the families had intermarried in Kentucky, I decided to check. Next time we drove up to Madison, in case the library there had anything I could spot. Imagine my shock and delight to find that not only was there a Teater Genealogy, but that John W. Griffith had witnessed his grandfather's will, the other two witnesses being husbands of grand daughters. We carefully did a lot of checking it out, having been disappointed before and afraid to trust this good fortune. The early tax lists showed us that John and Jonas were there as well, and much such data. Allan's subsequent check of Jackson Co. TN records confirmed our good luck.

Here I find the Cherokee link!

Obviously Griffith is a Welsh name; and we later found out that George Teter's first wife's grandfather, Captain Richard Pearis, had an eldest son George by a Cherokee woman. His wife was Rhoda, though we don't know for sure if Rhoda was a Cherokee. Perhaps not, but she could have been a second wife. Sally Teter Griffith's mother Sarah Pearis was the very oldest child, so she could have been half Cherokee. It is said that many Cherokee women, like many Chinese women, are very beautiful, and many white men fell in love with them. But the first Teters were German, and the Pearises were obviously Scotch-Irish, though well-to-do. Not Welsh. Here is Indian blood, and a potential three-brothers story, for George Jr., Richard and Robert came from Ireland in 1730's as children.

The first Griffith legend we found was the "kidnapped boy." And it came from a branch of our own family, a great grandson of Jonas, Sr. In a series of publications, Kentucky Genealogy & Biography Vol. III, page 269, a Webster County Kentucky man, William H. Griffith, a Civil War veteran, said he was born January 1848 in Macon Co. Tennessee. His father, Lindsay Byron Griffith, was born 1821 in Jackson Co. TN. His mother, Maria Rison, was a native of Huntsville Ala. HIS GREAT-GRANDFATHER GRIFFITH, HE SAID, WAS BORN IN WALES. AT AGE 5 HE WAS KIDNAPPED AND BROUGHT TO AMERICA. (Allan later learned from old will records that this William's Great grandfather was Jonas, Sr., and his grandfather Jonas, Jr.) But what a story! Sometimes one reads of British ship captains (most especially in time of war) going into the streets of London and many other places including Wales, and legally impressing men as sailors whether or not they were being taken from families which needed to be supported & might starve. But a 5-year old? Unless someone seeking the child's fortune had him spirited away or something like that. One's imagination runs wild trying to figure it out.

There is yet another Griffith Family "kidnapped boy" story, though in that case I cannot connect that family to ours unless the link was very far back somewhere. Zadock Griffith said that his father, William Griffith, was kidnapped in Wales at the age of 12 and brought to Maryland. Zadock himself later settled in western North Carolina after he had served in the Revolutionary War, but by then our Jonas and his kin had left.

We had not yet heard about Jonas's older brothers, but had studied Kentucky-Tennessee-North Carolina records enough to have seen the Burke Co. NC 1787 census and realized he was the enumerated man. We also realized that our search was taking us back far enough and in to an area in which there was a probability that either he or his father had served in the Revolution or in some war against the Indians. During the French & Indian War the Shawnees, egged on by the French, were a deadly menace along the PA and southern frontier from 1754 through 1758, the Cherokees in the Carolinas 1759-1761, the Shawnees again during Dunmore's war of 1774 until they were bested by General Mad Anthony Wayne at Fallen Timbers in 1795, most especially in northern Kentucky as soon as Daniel Boone and the rest of the gang made the first Kentucky River settlements. Daniel Boone was born in 1734 in PA. He was about 17 when his father's family moved to the Yadkin in NC. That river is presently the southern border of Surry County, NC.

Daniel Boone, a footloose youth who loved adventure and the hunt, became a waggoner during the disastrous expedition of General Edward Braddock against the French at Fort Duquesne, during which the General and most of the soldiers were massacred by Indians in 1755. After this the Shawnees went on a wild rampage along the entire frontier, tomahawking and torturing, burning homes and killing or driving off livestock in an attempt to exterminate the white race. IN CHECKING OUT ALL OF OUR FAMILY LEGENDS, IT IS CRITICAL TO KEEP IN MIND ALL OF THE DATES BEING CITED HERE. Though a small migration to North Carolina started about 1749/50, the really great migration started after July 1755, as settlers all up and down the Valley abandoned their homes and possessions and fled for their lives to a safer place on the other side of the Blue Ridge mountains. The Cherokees at that point were still friendly, as were the Catawbas. At this point North Carolina was a safe haven. Surry County, being the closest place over the Blue Ridge, was naturally the quickest place of refuge of the people who had settled in the rich New River Valley. And lately our cousin, Sylvan Griffith, has called our attention to the Griffith Family living there on Stewart's Creek at an early date. Every indication is that he is onto something. It certainly does appear that this is our own particular "Carolina Cradle." And strange as it may seem, it may be John Griffith, Jonas's older brother rather than Jonas himself, from whom we descend. It will take more investigation to be sure.

As for Daniel Boone, his love for the hunt and fur trapping soon led him over the mountains in NC, VA and TN. He heard the hunting was even better in Kentucky and tried to get there but could not find the way until along came an old Army buddy from 1755, selling knick-knacks and tinware, who said he had been to the Cumberland Gap and was sure he could find it again. He spent the winter with the Boones (1768) and the next spring they went hunting in Kentucky. Teamed up with Judge Henderson in 1774, the rest is history.

There is yet another British family "kidnapped" story. It would be that case I cannot connect that family to ours unless the link was very far back somewhere. Daniel Griffith said that his father, William Griffith, was kidnapped in Wales at the age of 12 and brought to Maryland. Without himself later settled in western North Carolina after he had served in the Revolutionary War, but by then our Jones had left in his last.

We had not yet heard about Jones's older brothers, but had studied Kentucky-Tennessee-North Carolina records enough to have seen the Burke Co. NC 1787 census and realized he was the enumerated man. We also realized that our search was taking us back far enough and in such an area in which there was a probability that either he or his father had served in the Revolution or the War of 1812. Against being an Indian war the Shawnee, aged on by the French, were a badly beaten along the VA and northern frontier from 1754 through 1764. The Cherokee in the Carolinas 1759-1761, the Shawnee again during Pontiac's war of 1763 until they were beaten by General Mad Anthony Wayne at Fallen Timbers in 1794, most especially in northern Kentucky as soon as Daniel Boone and the rest of the party made the first Kentucky River settlement. Daniel Boone was born in 1734 in VA. He was about 17 when his father's family moved to the Yadkin in NC. That river is presently the southern border of Surry County, NC.

Daniel Boone, a frontiers youth who loved adventure and the hunt, became a warrior during the disastrous expedition of General Edward Braddock against the French at Fort Duquesne, during which the General and most of the soldiers were massacred by Indians in 1755. After this the Shawnee went on a wild rampage along the entire frontier, committing and fortifying, burning homes and killing or driving off livestock in an attempt to exterminate the white race. IN CHECKING OUT ALL OUR FAMILY PAPERS, IT IS CRITICAL TO READ IN WITH ALL OF THE DATES BEING GIVEN. Though a small migration to North Carolina started about 1752/50, the really great migration started after July 1755, as soldiers all on and down the Valley abandoned their homes and possessions and fled for their lives to a safer place on the other side of the Blue Ridge mountains. The Cherokees at that point were still friendly, as were the Catawbas. At this point North Carolina was a safe haven. Surry County, being the closest place over the Blue Ridge, was naturally the quietest place of refuge of the people who had settled in the rich New River Valley. And later our cousin, Sylvester Griffith, has called our attention to the Griffith family living there on Stewart's Creek at an early date. Every indication is that he is onto something. It certainly does appear that this is our own particular "Carolina Cradle." And strange as it may seem, it may be John Griffith, Jones's older brother, rather than Jones himself, from whom we descend. It will take some investigation to be sure.

As for Daniel Boone, his love for the hunt and fur trapping soon led him over the mountains in NC, VA and TN. He heard the hunting was even better in Kentucky and tried to get there but could not find the way until along came an old Army buddy from 1755, selling knives-knives and furs, who said he had been to the Cumberland Gap and was sure he could find it again. He spent the winter with the Indians (1760) and the next spring they went hunting in Kentucky. Tamed in with Judge Henderson in 1774, the rest is history.

Last came the most complicated Griffith Family "kidnapped boy" story of all, and it does involve Daniel Boone as well. It must be read separately, for I am not gifted enough to recite it briefly.

The Hardin Griffith story is beautiful. A good, honorable man who has overcome adversity leads a life of toil and becomes a solid, prosperous citizen and then had the misfortune to lose all his children by death, except one young son, Guy Griffith, whom he loves more than life itself. The homesick young man, then in the US Navy, comes home on furlough and asks his father to tell all about his ancestors. Hardin searches his memory, tells what he can think of, and promises to write.

In the promised letter, he told about his parents and the relatives of his early childhood in the Jennings Creek area of Tennessee, of a scared cow that blundered through the hall of his childhood home. We can tell from his description that it was the type of old-fashioned southern home composed of two large cabins with a hall in between covered by a single long roof (what one would call breezeway today--some refer to that as the "dog-trot" house). The tot loved his father's decorative saddle trimmed with red velvet and lots of metal studs, and a pet cat that he carried around. Many of his ancestors, he said, are buried near Jennings Creek. (Hardin is feeling homesick himself.) He remembered his parents of course, and his grandparents and cousins living on the other side of the hill.

He tried to remember what had been told to him about his grandfather Jonas's youth and the ones who had come before, but didn't know much history except what had been passed down. He admitted that the early part was from "legion" (legend) and guessed at dates the best he could. The legend contained three brothers from Wales, a kidnapped boy story full of Indian encounters, and Daniel Boone thrown in for good measure.

Hardin Griffith tried hard, and he was so honorable that he even apologized about the "kindly horse" that rescued his great grandfather Jonas. Griffiths would never take horses that were not their own! Most of all, this man would never, ever, have deliberately told a lie to this son he loved so much.

Were there really three brothers? Maybe so, and St. David is the Welsh patron saint. We can't be sure there was an older brother John, but I believe he remembered correctly because circumstances support it. Did they come to NC from Wales? More likely they came to Maryland or some such place--or their progenitors did--and they came from there via the VA Valley, wouldn't you think? I don't know any better than Hardin did. Did Jonas hunt with Daniel Boone? They were both near to the Yadkin, so I would guess yes, but not in Kentucky, based on history. Hardest of all, was Jonas really captured by Shawnees? Considering history, the only logical place for that was if they were hunting not far from the New River NOT KENTUCKY. Others, such as Mrs. Ingles, escaped via that river. That could have happened in VA during Dunmore's War, but Jonas was probably too young for that in 1758 though it could have been some other ancestor. Others can analyze that letter perhaps better than I--but you know, that strict Griffith code of honor sounds just like my Grandpa.

Along came the most complicated British Family "kidnapper boy" story of all, and it does involve Daniel Boone as well. It must be read separately, for I am not allowed enough to write it fully enough.

The British Family story is beautiful. A good, honorable man who was someone who lived a life of toil and became a solid, prosperous citizen and then had the misfortune to lose all his children by being exact one young son, but British, when he loves more than life itself. The young son, then in the US Navy, comes home on furlough and tells his father to tell all about his ancestors. British becomes his story, tells what he can think of, and promises to write.

In the previous letter, he told about his parents and the relatives of his early childhood in the Tennessee Creek area of Tennessee, of a second son that died in the hall of his childhood. You can tell from the description that it was the type of old-fashioned southern home composed of two large rooms with a hall in between covered by a single long roof (what one would call a breezeway today--some refer to that as the "dog-house" house). The son loved his father's decorative saddle trimmed with red velvet and lots of metal studs, and a pair of shoes he carried around. Many of his ancestors, he said, are buried near Tennessee Creek. (British is feeling homesick himself.) He remembered his parents of course, and his grandparents and cousins living on the other side of the hill.

He tried to remember what had been told to him about his grandfather's youth and the ones who had come before, but didn't know much history except what had been passed down. He admitted that the early part was from "legend" (legend) and guessed at dates the best he could. The legend contained three brothers from Wales, a kidnapped boy story, full of Indian encounters, and Daniel Boone thrown in for good measure.

British British tried hard, and he was so honorable that he even spoke about the "kindly horse" that rescued his great grandfather. He said that would never take horses that were not their own. And of all this man would never, ever, have deliberately told a lie to this man he loved so much.

Were there really three brothers? Maybe so, and St. David is the Welsh patron saint. We can't be sure there was an older brother John, but I believe he remembered correctly because circumstances support it. And they come to be from Wales? Were likely they came to Maryland or some such place--or their progenitors did--and they came from there via the VA Valley, wouldn't you think? I don't know any better than British did. Did Jones hunt with Daniel Boone? They were both near the Yonkers, so I would guess yes, but not in Kentucky? SASSP in history. Hardest of all, was Jones really captured by Shawnee? Contrasting history, the only logical place for that was if they were hunting for the New River NOT KENTUCKY. Shawnee, even as Mrs. Jones, escaped via that river. That could have happened in VA during Boone's life, but Jones was probably too young for that in 1788 though it could have been some other ancestor. Others can realize that later perhaps better than I--but you know, that strict British code of honor would just like my thoughts.

When the combined Virginia, Tennessee, North & South Carolina and Georgia Patriot troops finally assembled, they numbered about 2000, though most of the local militia such as Jonas Griffith were untrained. That was twice as many as Ferguson could muster. He went on the defensive, retreating southward until he found what he perceived to be the perfect spot where he could not be defeated--a peculiarly-shaped steep, wooded eminence arising out of a plain called Kings Mountain, about a mile and a half past the border in York Co., South Carolina.

Except to say that the sharpshooting Over the Mountain Men scaled the wooded "mountain" in the dark and became the great heroes in the morning, the details of the battle itself will not be told here. Ferguson was killed and his army so badly defeated that it cost Cornwallis a third of his army and demoralized his troops, making them less effective for a while. The Battle of Kings Mountain is considered to be one of the turning points in the Revolutionary War because of the boost in morale it gave to the patriots.

While we can't be sure Jonas Griffith fought or where he lived, we do know that 6½ years later he was living in Burke County, called one of Neill's "Old Company," and that one of his neighbors, also listed on the same April 1787 census was a Catharine Pepper* head of family with a son ~~over~~ 21, 5 other males and 4 females, no slaves. Her husband Robert had been killed at the Battle of Kings Mountain. Robert's sister Sarah had married a man named George Pearis. Mrs. Pepper and several neighbors, including Jonas Griffith, migrated soon after this to Madison County, Kentucky, where they are shown on the Spring 1789 tax list.  On 12 June 1791, Samuel Griffith married Sarah Teater, daughter of George Teater, Jr. and his wife, Sarah Pearis Teater.*,. Mrs. Teater was the grand-daughter of an earlier George Pearis and also had an Uncle George, who might possibly be confused with Sarah Pepper's husband. (The conclusions in the Pepper Genealogy do not coincide with the results of my own research about George Pearis, but there couldn't have been very many men with this unusual name. In both cases there is a Virginia/South Carolina Huguenot connection.)

Whether the Peppers and the Griffiths were more than remotely connected by marriage we do not know. We also do not know the name of Jonas's wife--could she have been the missing link?

* History of the Pepper Family in America by Florence Pepper Raya (1974) page 14, etc.

 Cathey Family cited above page 111, explains that due to soil depletion and other causes, there was a huge migration ~~west-~~ ward out of NC beginning in the 1780's "a loss of more than 200,000 people." Some actually abandoned their land for lack of buyers.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE ARCHIVES

Madison County Tax Lists, 1792.

In selecting the tax lists of Madison county for 1792 for publication in this issue of the magazine some thought has been given to the fact that it may be interesting to compare the names of the residents in the first year of statehood with those in the lists of the pioneers at Fort Boonesboro in 1775, and in the "petitions" of the following years, as set forth in the very interesting article of Mrs. James W. Caperton, which also appears in this number, page 142.

Madison county was formed in 1785 from the eastern part of Lincoln, and included all or part of the counties of Garrard, Clay, Estill, Rockcastle, Perry, Laurel, Breathitt, Letcher, Owsley, Jackson and Lee. See Collins' History, vol. II, page 24. Mr. Collins did not include Bell and Harlan among those taken from what was originally Madison, and it is treason to question him, but the description of the boundaries of Madison, as set forth in petition No. to the Virginia legislature makes the line of Washington county one of the limits, and this must have been Washington county, Virginia, which was just over the mountains from Harlan. See Petition No. 27. Filson Club Publication, No. 27, page 84.

The three lists herewith presented were taken by William Caperton, Andrew Kennedy and John Adams, commissioners of the tax. A summary of all three lists is made in Caperton's return, which would make it appear that the whole county was covered by the three, but the absence of the names of a few men who are known to have been large landholders, such, for instance, as Gen. Green Clay, indicates that there was another list which has not been preserved. In the tax book for 1795 General Clay's land holdings cover three pages.

It would be interesting to make mention of some of the notables among the pioneers of this county of distinguished men, but the lack of space will prevent this, and Mrs. Caperton in her article tells in a most delightful way of the "first comers."

It may surprise some persons who are looking for the names of ancestors in this list not to find them under the proper initial, but a good many liberties were taken with spelling of proper names, and we find Phelps sometimes spelled Felps, Shackelford, Sheckelford, Wright, Right, and Chenault, Shenault.

(Data extracted) Oct 2000 at DAR library, Washington DC. This was not photocopied because too many pages were involved - keys to data's meaning - in code - on different pages than tax list individual entries)

1797 Tax List - Garrard County, Kentucky (This is the first tax list)
(Barly formed late 1796)

Griffith, James*	Poll for 1 man over 21 + 3 horses
" " Jr.	Exempt from poll 2 horses
" John	1 poll, white male over 16, 1 horse
" Samuel	1 poll, white male over 21, 2 blacks, 3 horses

(*None of the above owned land. "James" is obviously a mis-reading of "Jones." It did not say why Jones Jr was exempt - was he in the military at the time? This suggests John was a youth but that does not make sense to me since he had been in Madison Co. lists several years previous to this + I suspect his age was keyed wrong! Samuel's slaves + some horses may reflect his wife Sarah Teeter's dowry. Joel Short Sr, Jeremiah + Zachariah Short each had 1 horse, no land. Jos. Ray 125 acres a Paint Lick, John Harris 311 acres Sugar Creek, Abigail Van Cleave 850 acres at Paint Lick + 2500 at Drennon's Lick in Shelby Co. These were exempt (Shorts) Teeter in-law. George Teeter Sr had land - now yet listed for his sons.)

1799 Tax List - Garrard County Kentucky

Griffith, John living in upper district	- 1 white male + 2 horses
" Samuel " " lower district	- 1 white male, 2 blacks - one over 16 - 1 under, — horses (I missed copying number)

Burris, John 2 polls upper dist, 2 horses, 1 black

Short, Jacob 1 poll " " 1 horse (plus the other Shorts listed above)

(Various Reynolds, Rays, Harrises, VanCleave, Tetens, Hamms, etc also listed)

Jones Jr. + Sr. Griffith were not listed - they probably were in Barren Co by then. Garrard Co. upper + lower districts were not very far apart. John may have been in the Lancaster or Paint Lick area, for instance + eventually left for Barren soon after. Maybe Samuel did also, though being a minister it would have been more difficult.

GIRLS AND BOYS TOWN

MADE IN THE U.S.A. BY THE GIRLS AND BOYS TOWN OF AMERICA

Thanksgiving time, 1998

Dear Cousin Sylvan,

Many thanks for the letter last month and all the material! Wanda is a pretty lady, and you look a lot like Hardin Griffith, a fine man we all grateful to for his recollections. Your letters provide much food for thought from a helpful new angle.

When you read the enclosed material, please know that none of my ideas are cast in stone, but subject to change as more is discovered. Some of this is to provide information in case you do not have it. Also, extracting records and putting them in date order helps us see at a glance what we do know. For years I've been collecting, and by now have several large binders full of Griffith material, just in case. YOU are the one who carries on the Griffith name (though we have Griffith blood, but our branch "daughtered out" long ago) so you are the one who should be entitled to whatever we can share.

Your last letter changed my mind about what might be a turning point, if only you can answer another question. (1) you mentioned that John and Elizabeth Griffith's children were: Benjamin(e) born ca 1763, John ca 1765 (your ancestor), Daniel ca 1767, Samuel ca 1768, and two daughters. HOW DO YOU KNOW THAT? Did you see an abstract of a will, or some other evidence which led you to believe that. I beg you to answer this because, if you are correct our Samuel was your John's brother (and also Jonas's nephew, not his son)! This is a vitally important point for Billie and me, as you can well imagine.

Years ago, from studying census and other records, I had estimated that Samuel was born about 1768! Realizing that did not really coincide with the 1787 Burke Co. census showing Jonas with wife, two minor sons and three daughters, I rationalized that a 19-year-old son might have been working away from home. Jackson Co. TN records show Jonas Jr. was born between 1770 and 1780 and David in 1788 (after the 1787 census), and thus a lot younger than Samuel and John. The new data from you even calls into question what relationship Hester and Elender were to the family, but (judging from John W.'s daughters) Griffith girls married as early as 15½, often to men twice their age, so they could have been two of his daughters, I guess, or even sisters of John & Sam. Maybe I'm barking up the wrong tree, but the Barren Co. widow Elizabeth Allen & maybe a Mrs. Perkins bear checking out, just in case.

All this makes Jonas Senior quite a bit younger than Hardin G. imagined. Sylvan, if you will look at the 1803 Jackson Co. TN tax list copy you sent, listed among them were Jonas Griffith Jr. & Sr., also John and David Griffith. This last man cannot be the David born in 1788, only 15 and too young to pay taxes. This may be the David who was the 1799 Barren Co. KY chain carrier. Could he have been Jonas Sr.'s lost older brother David mentioned by Hardin? (Or less likely, was John & Elizabeth's son Daniel bca. 1767 a misreading of David? That happened in ca. 1840 Mercer Co. KY records in my grandma's family in which her uncle David Dunn appeared as Daniel--when written the names look alike.) The Barren Co. entries you sent also mentioned an assignment but no entry by a Joseph Griffith. And what might be an extra Samuel. Both John and Samuel paid taxes in Garrard Co. KY in 1800. As you remarked, they cannot have been in two places at once, and Samuel continues on in Garrard records though John does not. You asked if it makes a difference if Samuel was in TN earlier than I had previously thought. The answer is partly yes and partly no.

April 1998

Dear Billie and Allan,

First of all, I'm so happy and relieved to hear that you're feeling so much better, Billie. We were very, very worried about you for a while, and it is so nice to hear that you are now able to concentrate, a very good sign. It sounds as though Allan tried very hard to do what he could to help, and it must have been tough and go for a while. On the phone you sounded so tired and I could tell it was an effort for you even to think.

Please excuse the poor typing. I'm trying to hurry and have so many comments and questions about that FABULOUS material you sent which Sylvan Griffith provided. Like you said, Billie, both you and I already had some of that material, but in keeping it all together it was easier to demonstrate his point of view. That was very wise of you.

I wish I was as good as Allan in reconstructing families from wills & records. I keep referring back to his chart of known descendants and leftovers who might have been Samuel's or John's. I'm confused--does Sylvan think the John he descends from was a son of Jonas Sr? It sounds like he thinks his John was son of John & Elizabeth, therefore a nephew of Jonas. Is that the impression you get? I had not thought to look for Griffiths that far east in NC, and had tried to keep them separate from Griffins, which I now realize was a mistake. But we still need more proof those people were ours. Sylvan said the reason he knew those were his people is that he found them there while searching for his Dickensses, also there. I would like him to explain that more fully. Do you mind if I ask him? Since you are the one who "discovered" him with your contacts, I don't want to interfere without your consent.

He won't want to hear it, but all the real evidence shows John W. to have been son of Samuel and Sarah Teter Griffith, not John. Not only did he witness his grandfather's will, but there is no hard evidence Samuel left Kentucky until Spring 1817, when he bought land in Jackson Co. TN, though it is possible but not proven he was in Barren Co. briefly in 1799 on Beaver Creek, living next door to one of those ubiquitous Perkins. (Remember how I keep saying the Perkins kept following our family from state to state, even Iowa, but I wasn't sure whether they were connected to the Griffiths or the Dials?) From all reports, land in Barren County was not then considered very fertile, and it's no wonder they left. Logan Co. land was much better, and Garrard Co. excellent in places.

That Barren Co. data Sylvan sent raises many questions. Jonas was certainly there, and John and seemingly the rest--but is it all what it seems? Who was that David Griffith? He could not have been Jonas Sr's little son David, born in 1787 or 8 in NC Or KY depending on which report you read, and too young to own land in 1799! Was that man Jonas's mysterious missing older brother David? Was he a son of the older John who died in NC leaving a widow Elizabeth? If there were extra Davids there could be extra Samuels, also--perhaps. One thing you can say for sure--the family was very clannish, much on the move for a while, and produced numerous offspring, with a habit of duplicating names.

We don't have any new and wonderful breakthrough now but thought you might like having some stuff that's begining to look suggestive to us.
- Allan noticed that there were Griffiths in Jackson Co, Tn. (where the Dials were supposed to have been) in 1820. Search 2 lists them but doesn't include their older women. ^{It didn't list the 45+ - its on the film} When I saw what he had I thought I'd go take a look at the real census film and see what I found. You can see from the photocopy how the division of left & right sides of the page falls at the center seam - so whoever did the indexing failed to catch that the women 45+ were on the other side of the page (probably thought they were horses or slaves). There seemed to be a lot of families with no wives.

What we've noticed is that a John, a Samuel, and a Jonas turn up in various combinations in the same places at the same time. They seem to be the ones who might be related to Tectors.
(over)

I made a sort of summary of it ^{that} Allan ^{stapled} ~~clipped~~ on the back of the papers that say Search 2, 1820-1830.

We copied some pages of Perry Co., Ill 1830.
I took a long hard look at every page of Perry Co.
1830, while I was at it. There weren't many 10 or 20. Enclosed 1850 Iowa - John W Griffith also George. I think you already have those.

I'm not mentally able to write a good letter right now. Am in the lobby of the post office writing so I can think. The bird
"Barney" is watching T.V. and I can't think with Goof Troop on, and Allan interrupts or wants to see what I'm writing.

We'll probably find something good to send soon - we've been in a long, dry period, genealogically. We keep trying, don't get far.

I hope you have a wonderful birthday.

I'll write again very soon. Love, B.G.

(Iowa section)

Dear Little Sister -

(Started late Sept 1984)

How are you feeling - How was Maime when you left her? Sure glad you could be there an extra day or so, to let the hubub die down slowly. Hope asking all that stuff about our dad & the conversation was not too stressful for her, though. I was tired & some things came out I wish I hadn't said, though. Can't help it now!

Sometimes I don't word stuff well when I'm tired.

You asked a lot of questions - to give you proof of some Griffith & other info. Don't know if I can remember it all but will start right away before I forget any more of your questions. Please re-ask for whatever I forget in this letter.

you asked for #1

in one & proofs

#1 Proof that the John W Griffith family lived in Wisconsin for a couple of years, at least 1836 & part of 1837 - see separate sheet re: 1836 WI Terr. census - see explanation on reverse of data explaining why Iowa Country did not mean what became Iowa State.

#2 Notes - ^{photo}not copied because they were closing - Oct 1992 Salt Lake City

note: (Sarah Ann (Griffith) Brady married at age 16 - 16 Mar, 1845) I did not photocopy this the next day, not realizing this gave extra info at the time. I don't remember looking for Barnaby & Susan White. May get the film next fall at Salt Lake City & do so.

* probably Mrs Brady's sister - and Susan White's - Mary (Griffith) Cella.

Glad that I made notes, at least, for now realize this did have extra facts. Son Robert was Robert P obviously for the man in Perry Co IL. Son William was William C, (shades of the Jackson Co TN family!). Son David was already away from home. (By the way - in 1850 there was a Samuel b 1814 Ky Griffith 36m farmer Ky in "Allamakee" (89-93) with wife Catherine 29 b. Ky and Joseph K Griffith age 2 b. Wisconsin. Allamakee Co is just north of Clayton Co.)

That 1856 Census pagination was goofed up, as indicated. It is not at all surprising that John Griffith went to Iowa one year & brought his family the next. Almost all families did that ^{when} ~~before~~ they moved to the wilderness. Men went after the harvest to build a cabin or house and clear land - sometimes several men helping each other with log raising for cabins, etc. In the spring they went ^{back} for their families. (Richard Dodge I & 2 older sons did that when they went from Sturbridge MA to New Grantham N.H.)

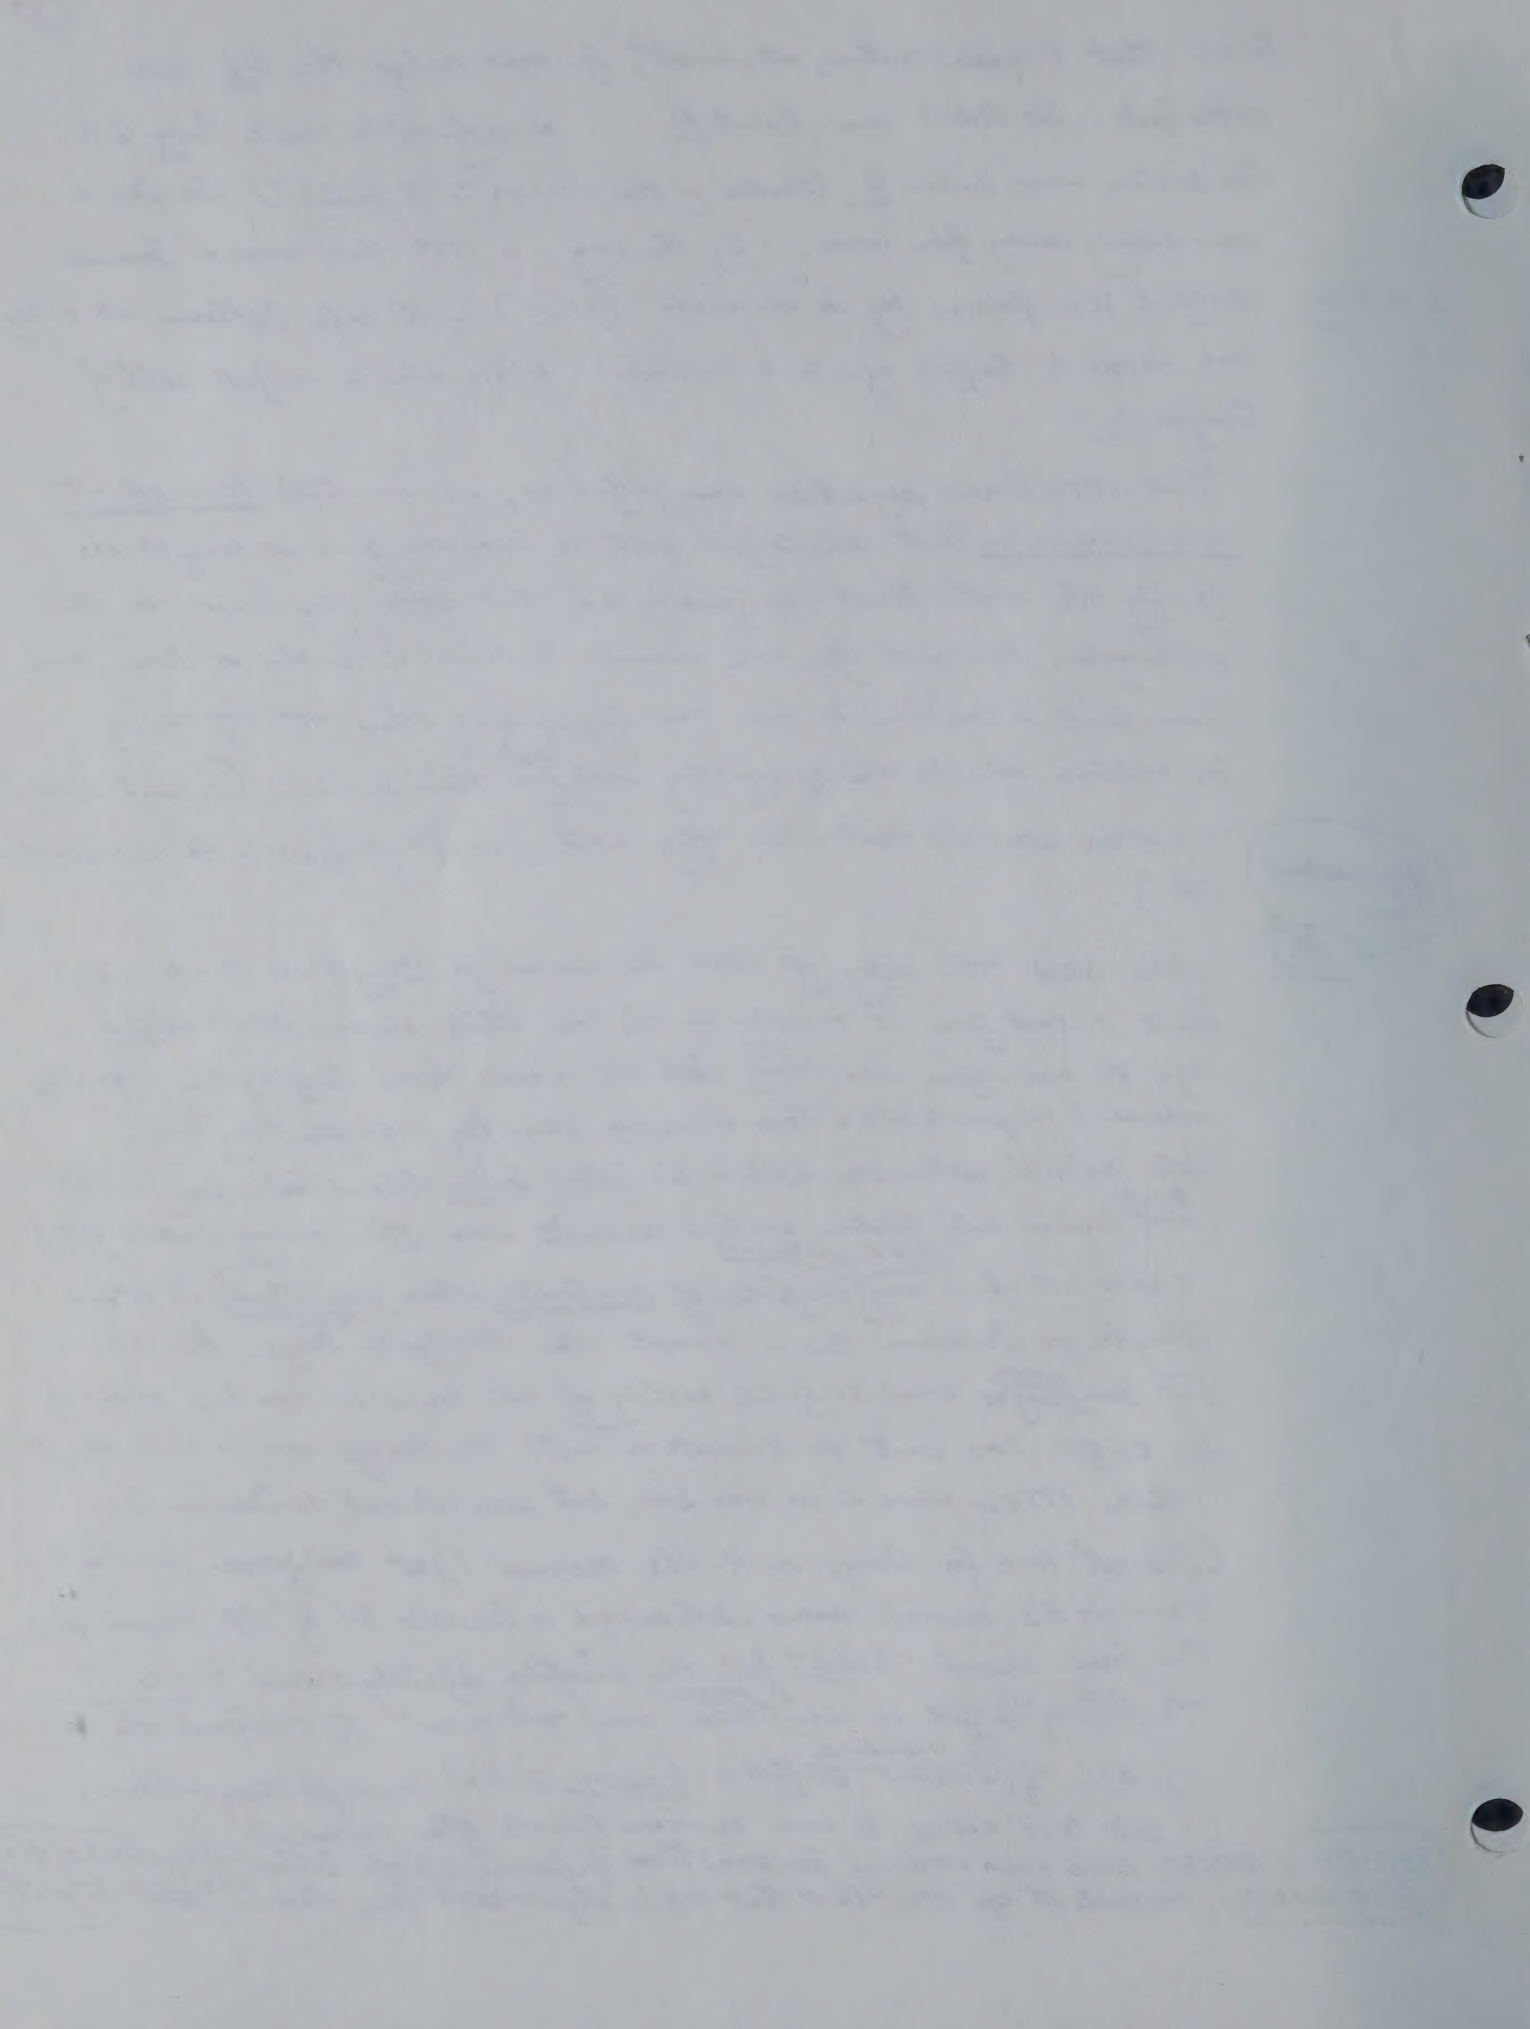

you asked for #3

You said the copy of 1880 US Census for Clayton Co IA - Millville which I sent you is missing - the one which shows John W Griffith age 84 and infirm was living with his niece, Hester (Griffith) Ray age 56, widowed b IL parents both b. Tenn. & her son Isaac Ray & daughter Mary Ray - John said his mother was b. VA & his father b. SC (Sarah Tetter was b. VA) ^{Early} (North Carolina & S. Carolina western residents were often moving back & forth.) (1870 or 1880 census)

I could not find any Griffiths (of our family - there are others Griffiths) in either Clayton or Delaware Cos - except the Bredys & Rays. No J.W. - but some ^{census} pages were so faded nothing at all could be read. Wonder if the Griffith sons went to Minnesota or West? The Bredys were in Minn one year - I think 1859 - where a son was born, but soon returned to Delaware Co.

(Did not look for Craigs or Kidds because I just now found Caroline & Harriet E's married names - both married in Cassville WI by a J.P. named Hays.) The index showed "Kidel" but the microfilm definitely showed Kidd. The ^{young} Mary ^{or image} Griffith in the index was not ours. So I've found the husbands of all of Susan Griffith's known sisters except Mary & Ellen.

(I don't have access to Iowa marriage records after statehood.) BEFORE I FORGET, have been wondering for some time if Dornay White's 2 oldest daughters of the first marriage, married at age 15 or 16 & that may be why we can't find them ??? What do you think.

aged by low levels of property-owning and by characteristic attitudes toward wealth and land and work in this culture.

During the first few years of settlement, backcountry folk settled close to one another for mutual protection. The result was the planting of "stations" in Tennessee, and "forts" in Kentucky. But as the backcountry gradually became more secure, another pattern appeared—one that was very different from the comital pattern of Massachusetts, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

The backcountry ideal was a scattered settlement pattern in isolated farmsteads, loosely grouped in sprawling "neighborhoods" that covered many miles. The German traveler Schoepf in 1783 observed that in North Carolina the farms were "scattered about in these woods at various distances, three to six miles, and often as much as ten or fifteen or twenty miles apart."⁴ North Carolina Congressman Nathaniel Macon startled his Yankee colleagues by arguing that "no man ought to live so near another as to hear his neighbor's dog bark."⁵ That attitude was widely shared in the backcountry. In this culture, a house became a hermitage, beyond sight and sound of every human habitation. Once again Andrew Jackson personified his culture. Jackson's home in Tennessee was actually called the Hermitage. When he was away from it he wrote home to his wife expressing his longing for "sweet retirement," apart from other people.⁶

There were, of course, physical limits to the realization of the idea. But the idea itself became an important reality in the culture of the backcountry. It persisted for many generations in the isolated homes that were built in the hollows of the Appalachians, the canebreaks of Kentucky, the flatlands of Texas and the ravines of southern California.

Samual Kercheval described the common settlement pattern: "The greater number of farms in the western parts of Pennsylvania and Virginia," he wrote, "bear a striking resemblance to an amphitheater. The buildings occupy a low situation, and the tops of the surrounding hills are the boundaries of the tract to which the family mansion belongs. Our forefathers were fond of farms of this description, because, as they said, they are attended with this convenience, 'that everything comes to the house down the hill.'"⁷

Note: In old faded records such as tax lists,

"Griffith" could be mis-read as

"Griffin" ↓

Griffith ~~Griffin~~ or faded

Not so likely the name would be misread in wills, as name would probably be repeated in several places.

 10. dau b 1815/6
 11. dau b 1817/8
 } one of these could have been children of #4 above (age 10-15 in 1830)

it is conceivable that if Samuel + Sarah died before 1840, one or more little sisters could have gone to live with John W. in WI or IA. (Nancy?) but Hester Ann (Griffith) Newton was b 1824 in IL - A Samuel Griffith bought land on Silver Creek (present St Clair Co IL) in but there is no proof he was ours.

A. John W. Griffith (b) Ky c. 1795 (m) Mary Ann Dial
 John W. may have had 2 brothers: (or more)

1. Robert P. Griffith Resided next door to John W. in Perry Co., Ill. 1830. Born c. 1797 Ky. (census)
2. George Griffith Resided near John W. Griffith in Clayton Co., Iowa 1850. John W. household # 30; George household # 47. George (b) Ky. c. 1802 (census)

B. Children, according to 1850 census, many who were not on this census won't be included, (I don't know them).

There are no Samuel's here. Maybe the father wasn't Samuel. Maybe they weren't even brothers.

Notes: Logan Co Ky

Robert sold his farm on Cab Creek, Jackson Co TN in April 1829 (see data from Hester & Billie Pringle) in anticipation of settling in IL. His son, Parris Griffith b 1828 TN, married 21 June 1849 Barbara Quillman b 1833 IL, daughter of John J.
Quillman. Her brother George b 1829 lived with the couple. She is Case #48, April 1858 court session, she divorced him. On 12 May 1859 (marriage book page 63 #178 Franklin Co IL adjoining Perry) "Barbara Griffith" married James Jones. (I have not searched yet, but if she had Griffith children with her, 1860 Franklin Co census should show them.)

Daughter Martha Griffith m. 15 Oct 1849 Hysias Heaps. (Several men bore that name!)

Daughter Nancy H. Griffith m. 25 Sep 1844 John Wheelley.

Perry Co IL records show that after 1830 Robert took a ward, John F Griffith b 1824 TN (Hester's brother?) He m 1) 3 Sep 1843 Nancy N. Keeling b 1814 NC, and had two known children Martha Ann Griffith b 1850 IL and Augustus P Griffith b 1853. (There was at the same time an Augustus P Griffith living in Jackson Co TN) This young IL man ^{Augustus} married on 13 May 1858 a Julia E Crane. (The ward) John F. m 2) widow Mary Ekenson on 14 Apr 1878.

(girl 15-20) Elizabeth or Jane Dier (women 50-60) Mrs. (Sarah?) Dier whose maiden name I'm still searching for.

page 123 William Dyer and daughter Susan (Dier) Dyer for Ston Creek Great Grandma Susan (Griffith) Dier was named, removed soon after to Taney Co. MO, perhaps not far from present Branson. There seems to have been a new mining ore opening up there, too.

* This son, William, later had a son "Johnson". As a youth, "Johnson Dyer" lived in Clayton Co IA a few years near Aunt Mary Ann. "Polly". One of William's descendants became a Mormon bishop in Salt Lake City Utah, in the late 1900's.

Attached (from 2 books) says 2 yrs before John W. Griffith was born, his Uncle Jonas (~~or poss. his grandfa.~~) served under Gen. "Mad Anthony" Wayne against marauding troops of Indians who refused to accept the outcome of the Rev. War. The Oct. 1793 expedition composed of federal troops plus mid-TN militia augmented by a few Kentuckians, left Fort Washington (Cincinnati) & marched north. See marked p.xx for details. On Aug 20, 1794, the Indians were effectively defeated at Battle of Fallen Timbers, though it dragged on--treaty signed a year later. This says most state militia rolls were lost or destroyed, many others may have been involved.

This shows a 3-mo. stint, Oct thru Dec 1793, "arms & outfit."

Allen - This is a damn garting, but do you think it is possible the above Luck was Lock? (LOCK) Spelling in early court records were often not the best. (Wm of 1812 records show David Dool as Dyell, for instance.) In rural communities there were a lot of cousin marriages. Maybe your discovery here is a link to more data.

I can no longer read microfilm well, but do you have the LDS call

Peter Hoss was the blacksmith for a large territory around Temple Hill. Later, this shop was sold to James Marrs, who operated it for some time. Dick Hale operated a blacksmith shop for many years. The wife of Peter Hoss, Aunt Lizzie, was a notorious fortune teller. Newlyweds, who wanted to know what the future held in store for them, or people who had lost items of jewelry or a pocketbook would visit Aunt Lizzie, who reputedly had the uncanny power of telling the exact location where lost items could be found and could reveal the future to those who wanted to know it.

Nearby is Saltpeter Cave, which in the early days belonged to General Alexander Spotswood. During the War of 1812, saltpeter was mined there, the remains of which are still visible. The cave is located in a limestone cliff a half mile from Temple Hill. Like Mammoth Cave, it has a stream in which eyeless fish have been found. It has a formation of stone that is shaped like a giant coffin and is called The Giant's Coffin. Tool marks and wheelbarrow tracks, resulting from the 1812 saltpeter mining enterprise, can still be seen. Many Indian skeletons and burial relics have been found in the cave.¹

SALTPETER CAVE, near Temple Hill, was used in the mining of saltpeter for gunpowder manufactured during the War of 1812. Then, it belonged to General Alexander Spotswood. Many Indian skeletons and burial relics have been found in the cave.

GLASGOW

By Paul Holman
And Cecil E. Goode

In the same year that Barren County was organized, the location of the county seat was decided upon, and the new town was named Glasgow. Barren County was authorized by the Kentucky Legislature on December 20, 1798, but it was not until May 10, 1799, that the county was officially organized.

One of the very first orders of the new county court, in July of 1799, had to do with the location of the public buildings of the county:

"Ordered that the place of erecting the public buildings of the County be on the land of John Gorin, the Justices of the court of Quarter Sessions having concurred with the County Court in this opinion that 150 acres of land be appropriated to the use of the said Town and that it be established agreeable to an Act of Assembly ... concerning the establishing of Towns & C."

But the location of the county seat had previously been the subject of some controversy. In a contest for the town were John Gorin at the site of his Big Spring and Richard Garnett at the site of his spring a few miles farther northwest on Beaver Creek.

An election was held to determine the location. Gorin's site won by a few votes, many of his Revolutionary War comrades helping him, according to Cyrus Edwards.² Gorin agreed to lay off 150 acres of land into lots of which he would contribute one half for public use along with $200 worth of carpenters' and joiners' work in completing the public buildings. John Matthews and John Moss were appointed by the court to superintend the clearing of the public land.¹

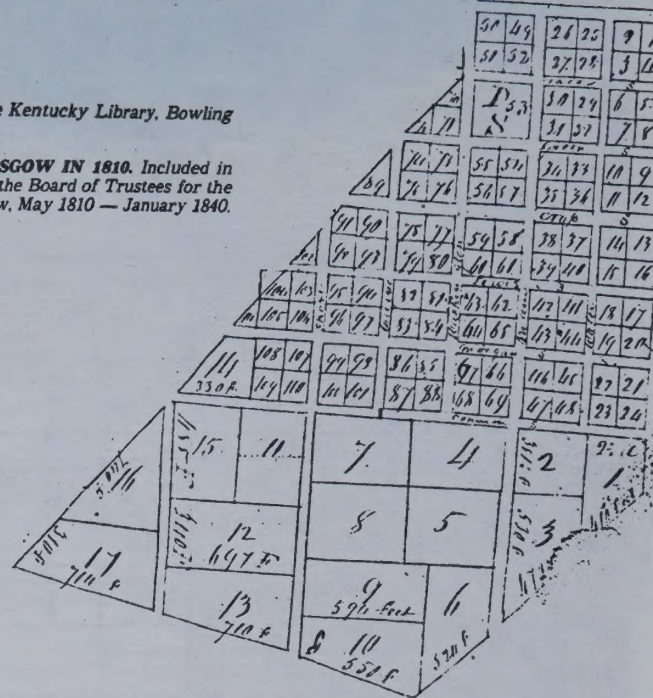

The November Court of 1799 finally affirmed that the town be established on 152 acres of John Gorin's land and that it be known by the name of Glasgow. [The first trustees named were Haideh Trigg, John Cole, John Matthews, John McFerran, John Moss, Abel Hennan and William Welsh.]

An important reason for locating the new county seat on John Gorin's land was that there was a mammoth spring there called the Big Spring, which provided a copious flow of cool, clear and pure water. This spring was situated behind the present buildings on the northeast corner of the Square between Main and Water Streets. It still flows out through the little stream that flows east along Water Street. John Gorin, the first resident, built a log cabin on Water Street near the spring.

Franklin Gorin, who was John Gorin's son, in his recollections published in the Glasgow Times in 1876, said that the new town was named for Glasgow, Virginia; others have claimed that it was named for Glasgow, Scotland. The latter is more plausible because there were many Scottish settlers in this part of Kentucky at that time. Besides, John Matthews, one of the first trustees, was from Scotland — Glasgow, Scotland, it is said. There was a New Glasgow, Virginia (now called Clifford) at that time, but upon recent inquiry, the Virginia State Library could find no Glasgow, Virginia, at the time our Glasgow was founded.

The town site was hilly and covered with giant trees and pea vines. Only a few acres had been cleared to the north and east of Gorin's cabin, so the few settlers began forthwith to clear the public square area. By March of 1800, the County Court was meeting at the courthouse, which had been completed. It was of log construction and did not last long for, by 1802, a commission was appointed to plan a new courthouse which was also constructed of logs.

While Glasgow had been very much alive for ten years, the Kentucky Legislature officially recognized this fact on January 31, 1809. According to the Legislature, the town would be governed by five trustees. The act provided that any person guilty of running or racing horses or shooting in town would, if a white or free person, be subject to a fine of two dollars and if a slave, be whipped.

note - shortly after this, Grant county was created from District 1 and has retained its original boundaries.

By 1850 the Hughbanks family was living in Mineral Point - shown in Dist 2, though in 1836 they would have been in Adams Co Illinois
my

In the map, "4 Lakes" - then only wilderness, later became Madison, the state capital In 1834 what is now Grant County had most of the population of Wisconsin Territory, because of the ^{lead} mines. Some quick fortunes were made by some, hoped for by others.
Undoubtedly that is at least indirectly why John V. & Mary Ann Griffith came.

In 1836 Milwaukee Co. adjoined
Dist. 2 on the East. Few people there in 1836, but in the 1840's, because of steamships, Germans & Easterners started arriving.

The above Dials likely descend from "Martin Dial" family kin.
A few years after copying this, I learned our family spell their name Dyal or Dyall (sometimes Dyell (DYELL) in Jackson Co TN).

May I tax the patience of our readers while I make one more reference to "the house of John Bowen, on Roaring River", as the place where the first Court of Pleas and quarter sessions should be held.

In his interesting and instructive letter, published in the Sentinel, August _____. Mr. L. F. Myers says: Nat Brown and brother James Brown, sons of John Brown, made the statement that the first court held in Jackson County, Tennessee was at their father's house, three and a half miles South of Hilham in 1803, and next at the Hickey Place, owned at the time by Benjamin Totten. Now, note the date 1803, when the first court was held at the Brown Place. Remember, the Act creating the County was passed Nov. 6, 1801. Where were Courts held during the interval of more than a year between that date and the first of the year 1803. Four Courts were to be held each year, December, March, June and September. Does not this demonstrate that the four courts at least, during 1802, were held at the house of John Bowen on Roaring River, as the Act provides? This does not detract from the interest in the John Brown place, where the Courts were held in 1803.

The Commissioners were required by the Act to procure 40 acres as near the center of the County as practicable, and lay off the town of Smithfield. I think Capt. Myers has helped to locate the lost town of Smithfield, and the site should be appropriately marked as well as the Bowen place, and the Hickey, or Totten place.

A. V. and W. H. Goodpasture say in their life of J. D. Goodpasture, page 16, that: Daniel Brown married a sister of Benjamin Totten, the first of Overton County. The Courts of the County (Overton) were organized at Totten's House on Eagle Creek, and continued to be held there until the General Assembly passed an Act that after the first day of June 1810 the Courts should be held at the town of Monroe.

Benjamin Totten was the father of James L. Totten, who practiced law at Livingston until some time in the Thirties, when he moved to Trenton, was elected to the Legislature in 1835, and soon afterwards moved to Mississippi, where he became a Circuit Judge of Benjamin C. Totten of Huntington, who was on the Circuit bench from 1837 to 1845; and of Archibald W. O. Totten, who began the practice of law at Troy, and moved thence to Jackson, and was on the Supreme bench from 1850 to 1855. So Jackson County can claim these eminent Tottens as citizens originally in her boundaries, born at least Jackson Countians.

There is one other distinction that should, I think, be credited to James L. Totten. What young men and maidens of fifty or sixty years ago could fail to recall the song of "Roaring River"? There is not so _____ to the words, but there is a swing and "lilt" to the tune that is fascinating to the devotees of terpsichore.

In the early days at Gainesboro in the old fashioned dance they would dance, or tip the "Light Fantastic" to the tune of Roaring River for half of the night. It is in exaggeration to say that this tune occupied the attention of the musicians and dancers for half of the night, for there were many other tunes used but "Roaring River" was the favorite. In fact, this tune, with its variations and mutations unlike any other tune I know, has no terminal facilities. Like Tennyson's Book, it goes on forever.

Judge E. L. Gardenhire told me that the author of "Roaring River"

(History of Gainesboro, p. 10)

went from our country to Mississippi and there became a Circuit Judge. I have endeavored to recall the name, but could not read the reference to James L. Totten. I am now of the opinion that he is the man. ---- Two verses of the song refer to local streams that serve to identify it with the County, as originally created, while the third is of modern origin, and here it is:

ROARING RIVER

Hopper's Creek and Roaring River,
My wife 's dead and I'm a Widower.

Chorus -

I'll rack back to Roaring River,
I'll rack back to Roaring River,
I'll rack back to Roaring River,
I'll rack back to Roaring River.

Hopper's Creek and Falling Water,
Some old man will loose his Daughter.

Chorus -

I'll rack back to Roaring River.
Adlibitum.

Aaron's Branch and Tally's Hollow,
I will lead and she will follow.

Chorus -

If you think there is no music in Roaring River you should have heard John W. Meadows, Tecumseh G. Settle, or Samuel H. York in their palmy days, one or all together, on their old fashioned fiddles. The tune should be preserved, and I nominate Mrs. Clara Cox Epperson to put it on paper for posterity, and send it to Garland Draper. I am sure she knows the tune, for her father, Capt. Robert A. Cox, was an excellent violinist, and knew "Roaring River" with all its variations.

Speaking of Mr. Meadows, Mr. Settle, and Mr. York, all of whom were worthy citizens of Gainesboro and vicinity. When I was a boy recalls a custom prevalent at that time. Masonic funerals were always accompanied by music on the violin, slow solemn music, and the tolling of the Church bell. The procession would form at the residence and there take up the coffin, preceded by the musicians, a slow procession would wend its way to the cemetery, or the Church first, and then to the cemetery. The solemn notes of the bell and the slow mournful music of the violins, with the Master of the Lodge, or the oldest Mason present bearing a ponderous Bible.

GREER, Francis

Died 8 April 1839, very suddenly having been well less than twenty four hours before her death. This is shown in the suit of Charles C. Taliaferro vs Nathan Eavins [Evans] admr. of Francis Greer. Taliaferro was indebted to Francis Greer (who was his sister) and executed bills of sale of negroes to secure the debt. (Bed TN, Ch Ct Min, 1/279)

GREER, Joseph

Died before 29 June 1842 as shown in the suit of John Cook & wife Margaret vs Thomas & Mary Ann Greer and John H. Moore. It was stated that "Joseph Greer deceased was a mere attorney to sell the tract of land described in complainants bill for the heirs at law of Joseph Harmon deceased, of which complainant Margaret is one." Defendants were executors of said Joseph & according to his will sold the land in 1837. Complainants are entitled to 1/10 part of the purchase money. (Bed TN, Ch Ct Min, 2/190)

GREER, Margaret

7 August 1795 her guardian, Adam Mitchel, gave as his security, Peter Millor. (Was TN, Co Ct Min, 1/560)

Probably died before 5 July 1870 when R. C. Coffman made a settlement as administrator. (Dyr TN, Co Ct Min, B/82) 4 July 1871 R. C. Coffman made a settlement as guardian of Margaret Griffin. (Ibid 258) 9 April 1873 a settlement was made for the heirs of Margaret Griffin. (Ibid 577)

GRIFFIN, Mary

Was a resident of Shelby County, KY, on 27 October 1818 when she gave power of attorney to John Henry to sell land on Barton Creek in Wilson County, entered in the name of Mary Henry. It was witnessed by Thomas Marquess & Jesse Henry. (Wil TN, Reg Bk/109)

GRIFFITH

A suit was shown 15 August 1860, James Carnahan, W. P. Wlicher & wife Polly, Sally Griffith, Sandford Ballard & wife Nancy Ballard vs John F. Griffith, Samuel T. Griffith & James G. Griffith. It is necessary to sell the land to pay the debts and said land is not susceptible of partition among the heirs. [Does not state heirs of whom.] It is also stated that the estate of David Griffith [does not say deceased] is largely indebted and there are two suits against him to sell the land as creditors, to wit, David Myers vs David Griffith & others and Leroy B. Settle vs David Griffith & others. (Jac TN, Ch Ct Min, C/416)

GRIFFITH, James P.

Died intestate before 26 July 1848 as shown in the suit of David Griffith Admr. of James P. Griffith vs Mary Josephine Griffith and Mariah Clay Griffith. The defendants are his heirs. The land is to be sold subject to the widow's dower. (Jac TN, Ch Ct Min, A/315) Both the defendants are minors and William R. Kuncze was appointed guardian ad litem. (Ibid 317) Jonas Griffith was the father of James P. Griffith. Land was sold subject to the widow's dower. (Ibid B/193) Two suits were entered 15 July 1858 by Sam E. Hare vs L. B. Griffith & others and against David Griffith & others. W. P. Wlicher was appointed guardian ad litem for Mary J. & Mariah C. Griffith, minors. (Ibid C/132)

GRIFFITH, John Brother of Samuel

Died before 5 March 1828 when James Hickey was appointed administrator. (McM TN, Co Ct Min, 2no#279) 6 December 1830 the administrator made a report. He mentioned selling the land in Bledsoe County. There were receipts from Benjamin Griffith, William Baler & Jno. L. McCarty. (Ibid 487)

GRIFFITH, William C. A.

In the suit of William C. A. Griffith and others vs William J. Dixon & Emsly Willmore, 13 July 1854, complainants were given leave to take the depositions of Alexander Clark, Alexander Nevil, Solomon Wilson, Jefferson Wilson, Ephraim S. Wilson, Thomas N. Wilson, Larkin D. Sweaza, Matthias Sweaza, Sr., Matthias Sweaza, Jr., Thomas M. Wilson, Edward R. Hancock, Jonas Sweaza, Henry Lovelady, Henry Sweaza, Jefferson Price, John Sisca, Thomas Shrum, Pleasant Hendley, Joseph Roddy, John Medowel, Pharis Sweaza, Thadlas C. Quarles, Alexander Kelth, Valentine Vanhearer, Thompson Carson, David Myers, Burril R. Land, Jonathan Wilson, Reubin Price, Leroy Gorden, Ben C. White, Denton More, James Moss, Robert Moss, John Moss, Jonas Myers, Nathaniel M. Cox, Claiburn D. Wlicher, Booker Wlicher, Samuel T. Griffith, William P. Wlicher & Polly Wlicher. (Jac TN, Ch Ct Min, B/163) Complainants in this suit were William C. A. Griffith & Nancy Griffith and Claiburn Griffith & Polly Griffith by their next friend William C. A. Griffith. A judgement was given in favor of defendants, William J. Dixon & Ensley Wellmore. Complainants were granted an appeal to the Supreme Court in Nashville. (Ibid 265)

1. The first step in the process of creating a new product is to identify a market need. This is often done through market research, which involves gathering information about the target market and its needs. Once a need is identified, the next step is to develop a concept for a product that meets that need.

2. The second step is to develop a business plan. This involves determining the costs of production, the pricing strategy, and the marketing strategy. The business plan also includes a financial forecast, which shows the expected revenue and profits over a period of time. Once the business plan is complete, the next step is to secure financing for the project.

3. The third step is to create a prototype of the product. This is often done using 3D printing or other manufacturing techniques. The prototype is used to test the product's design and functionality, and to make any necessary adjustments. Once the prototype is ready, the next step is to begin production of the final product.

1797 Tax List, Garrard Co Kentucky

Griffith, James (probably misreading of Jones) poll for 1 man over 21, 3 horses
" " Jr. exempt from poll, 2 horses
" John no land owned by any of the four 1 poll, white male over 16 * 1 horse
" Samuel 1 poll, w/m over 21, 2 blacks, 3 horses

Various Harises listed (John Haris had 311 acres on Sugar Creek, Joseph Ray 125 acres on Point Lick, Joseph Hamm the miller was exempt from taxes but had 2 blacks.

Joel Short Sr, William Short & Jackson Short each had one horse, no land. Abigail VanCleave had 850 acres at Point Lick & 2500 at Dr. Drennan's Lick in Shelby. (She was George Tester Sr's mother-in-law but a bitch. (Ben Davis Tester boarded with her while attending Point Lick Academy.) The Testers were all listed & had blacks & horses - George Sr. had land.

1799 Tax List, Garrard Co. Kentucky

Griffith, John living in upper district - 1 white male & 2 horses
" Samuel " " lower " - " " 1 black under 16, 100 ac, horses (crossed, neither of horses)

John Barnes - 2 polls upper dist, 1 black, 2 horses

Jacob Short - 1 poll " " 1 horse + the other Shorts, as shown above plus various Reynolds, Rays, Harises, VanCleave, Testers at al.

As of 1799 Jones & Jones Jr Griffith were not mentioned. Perhaps they got to Barren Co. Ky sooner than John & Samuel. How early in the year the list was made not stated, but obviously they were in Garrard Co, but not in the same district, in early 1799.

Xerox copies at the DAR Library are quite expensive but if so many pages had not been involved they could have been copied instead of extracting data. Keys to interpreting the data were not on the same pages as the data.

* Unless it was a misprint, it would appear John was younger than Samuel in the 1791 poll. I think they grandfather, because John had been on poll taxes for several years by then! By 1796 Samuel was already a Methodist minister. A wedding drawing from Sarah (Tester) Griffith's family may be why he had slaves and more horses - from the Kentucky Gazette we know he was living at the mouth of Sugar Creek (junction at the Kentucky River), now called lower district. The Lancaster district (or another higher elevation) would probably be upper district - not far away at all.

1977-1978 The first year of the project was spent in the field collecting data on the behavior of the subjects. The subjects were divided into two groups: Group 1 (n=10) and Group 2 (n=10). Group 1 was exposed to the treatment for 10 days, while Group 2 was exposed to the treatment for 20 days. The results of the study are presented in the following table:

Table 1: Results of the study. The table shows the mean and standard deviation of the subjects' behavior for each group. The results indicate that Group 1 showed a significant increase in behavior compared to Group 2.

1979-1980 The second year of the project was spent in the field collecting data on the behavior of the subjects. The subjects were divided into two groups: Group 1 (n=10) and Group 2 (n=10). Group 1 was exposed to the treatment for 10 days, while Group 2 was exposed to the treatment for 20 days. The results of the study are presented in the following table:

Table 2: Results of the study. The table shows the mean and standard deviation of the subjects' behavior for each group. The results indicate that Group 1 showed a significant increase in behavior compared to Group 2.

1981-1982 The third year of the project was spent in the field collecting data on the behavior of the subjects. The subjects were divided into two groups: Group 1 (n=10) and Group 2 (n=10). Group 1 was exposed to the treatment for 10 days, while Group 2 was exposed to the treatment for 20 days. The results of the study are presented in the following table:

29 May 1838 Census - Clayton County, Wisconsin Territory

This was in what is presently the State of Iowa, & was created late 1837 from Dubuque Co. The census was taken by John W Griffith himself as one of his first duties, after being appointed the first sheriff by the territorial governor of Wisconsin. This included ^{present} ~~Alamogordo~~ County, though the NW part of his county was still Indian territory.

Line one - J W Griffith - 5 males, 6 females, total 11 (no ages given) (5 males) J W, David b 1831 IL, George b 1835 IL, and two other males.

One of them might have been his (brother?) George b 1802 Ky. Another may have been his (son-in-law or nephew-in-law) Joseph B Quigley who was not ^(m. Nancy Griffith) named on the census but was elected first Clayton Co. Coroner that fall.

(6 females) Mary Ann, Hester Ann b 1824 IL (their niece?), Susan b 1827 Ky, Sarah Ann b 1829 IL; and two others probably including Nancy B (Griffith)
Quigley b. 1819 or 1820 TN

¹⁸³⁸ Line two - Robert Campbell 3 males, 2 females, total 5 next door to ^{John W Griffith or father}
(3 males) Robert b 1804 PA and two others, perhaps 2 of the 3 other men living with him in 1836

(2 females) Hester Ann (Griffith) Campbell ^{b 1821 TN} + baby Catherine Unless the baby was born later in the year. Robert + Hester Ann were married 07 Dec 1837 in Dubuque Co, WI Territory. This couple was living next door to her parents. Robert must have been literate and prosperous because that fall he was elected one of the two County Commissioners. They had a little son Samuel the next year.

If they had any other child it was probably a boy - it seems likely that Hester died in childbirth then or soon after.

IOWA COUNTY - MICHIGAN TERRITORY

From Map Drawn by J.H. Celton & Co.
November 9, 1839

(Sent to Billie - June 1954)

This is from 1836 census of Wisconsin Territory - established from Michigan Territory that year. (This not the then non-existent Iowa state) - ~~which~~ ^{there were} in 1836 ~~two~~ ^{two} WI Terr. Counties - i.e., ⁽¹⁾ Dubuque and ⁽²⁾ Des Moines, west of the Mississippi River. The four counties east of the River were ⁽³⁾ Iowa, ⁽⁴⁾ Brown ⁽⁵⁾ Milwaukee, ⁽⁶⁾ Crawford. (Crawford was all Indians!)

To sum up, Wisconsin had 6 counties, listed above. At that time, because of the mines, by far the most populous of the four was Iowa county. I am attaching a map of Iowa County, Wisconsin Territory, as of 16 August 1836.

Grant TWP was established a few months later. District 1, was Cassville. See the line ^{due} north at Range 1 - the eastern boundary. On So. was Jo Davies Co IL. West was Mississippi River and on North was Wisconsin River.

The booklet this is photocopied from probably is not available in Columbia.

Sorry, thought I had sent this earlier. This definitely shows Griffith family in Wisconsin, not Iowa. (So were the Rays & Robert Campbell family connections.) Living so close to "politician" James Jones, they may even have been in Cassville. "city limits."

The above info is extracted from introductory info in the census booklet, but scattered over several pages - too long to copy here.

Note - According to the ¹⁸⁵⁴ Iowa state census, combined with the reversal, it is obvious that the Griffith family were residing (i.e. their residence was located) in WI Territory east of the Mississippi River in 1836. But John was not bodily at his residence, though he was counted anyway because he lived there. It was easy to ferry across the River in summer low water. Probably he made many trips back & forth.

12 October 1840 Census - Clayton Co. Iowa Territory

The First Division part of this census was taken by Great-Great Grandpa J.W. Griffith himself, so we know that it is accurate, also that he had nice handwriting.

The Second Division part was taken by others, but mentioned here because of historical interest. Not only did Clayton Co. include Fort Snelling (near Mpls/St Paul MN) and "Lake Traver 250 miles up the St Peter" but also "a tract of country 600 miles in extent, St Peter Precinct." In other words Fort Pierre, established in 1832 ^{at} present Pierre, South Dakota. It appears the Missouri River was being called the St Pierre, perhaps a holdover from French fur-trading days, if I guess right.

Notes: This Hester died before 1850. Her birthplace might be determined if one of her children could be found on a 1850 census. Names of men living with Robert + John W not known - relatives or hired men or ^{maybe} boarders. George T Griffith who died in 1850 was one

The Walker Clan living nearby may well have been relatives, but I do not know how. They had partly Welsh South Carolina roots (as did John W.'s father) and came to Iowa through Missouri. line 2 - William Walker (boy 10-15) (3 men 20-30), (2 men 30-40) (2 men 40-50) line 14 - Thomas B. Walker (1 boy 5-10) (1 man 20-30) (1 woman 20-30) line 15 - W. J. Walker (2 men 20-30) Clayton Co. Deed Records show this family buying + selling a good many properties, seemingly in the real estate business.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem. It is shown that the problem is of great importance and that it has not been solved before. The author then proceeds to a detailed analysis of the problem. He shows that the problem can be reduced to a set of equations. These equations are then solved by using the method of characteristics. The results are then compared with the results of other authors. It is found that the results are in good agreement with the results of other authors.
The author then discusses the implications of the results. He shows that the results have important consequences for the theory of the problem.
The paper concludes with a summary of the results and a list of references.

VALUES AGES & STATES OF BIRTH QUESTIONNAIRE

Note - other pages show Anton White as 40 & son - Germany (6 children see b 12) farmers and G. Y. White, 50, a miller (+ 10 children all b RI - the oldest 3 were teachers)

(Many Canadians), Germans, Irish had recently settled + people from other states incl MO.)

Obviously the census taker had Pennsylvania on his brain. Almost none of the above were really born there. He only guessed at ages.

Robert Quigley was born in Clayton County, Iowa, Dec. 31, 1845. .. His parents were Joseph B. and Nancy B. (Griffith) Quigley, who came to Clayton County in 1836, and still reside on a farm in Highland Township. Our subject passed his early life on his father's farm, attending school winters until he was sixteen years of age. He then spent two years in Upper Iowa University. He then enlisted in Company D, Forty-sixth Iowa Infantry, and served the 100 days for which that regiment was called. After being discharged from this regiment he was mustered into Company K, Fifteenth Iowa Infantry, serving one year. He was discharged at the close of the war and returning to Clayton County remained at home one year. He then came to McGregor, entering the law office of Elijah Odell. Here he remained six months. The next four

I hope to get a chance to check these out at a future date at Madison. If anyone married in the 1800s it would explain why she was not on the census page.

Lancaster County, South Carolina Deed Abstracts - 1787-1811

Brent Holcomb (1981)

WI SHS #F277 L2 H64

Book B, Page 73: S. C. Camden Dist., Benjamin Blackburn to son John Blackburn a plantation on both sides Great Lynches Creek at the mouth of Tuckahowe, a tract granted to John Armstrong, conveyed to David Griffith, then to Petter Aaron, and from said Peter Aaron to Benjamin Blackburn, all my right and title in bond for said land, for caows, etc. (marks given)...18 July 1778 Benj Blackburn (B) (Seal), Wit: Banum Martin Lewis Faile & William Faile. Prov. by Lewis Faile before Andrew Baskin, 23 July, 1778.

---- (see folowing (Garry) last page Griffith)

Note: The author said he had a very hard time reading the conveyance, being almost obliterated, but thought he had it right.

This is the only entry in the book of very great significance to us, for it shows that David Griffith had not only owned land in Mecklenburg Co., NC, extending to the SC line, but that in fact his claim seems to have extended across the border into South Carolina if the tracts were contiguous; if not, the tracts were at least in the same general area. (I cannot find a Tuckahowe Creek on the map of NC & do not have a SC atlas.) Anyhow the name of the creek may have changed or it may be too small to be labeled on the atlas.)

As one can see, the property had changed hands from Griffith to Aaron to Blackburn, all before July 1778--but this entry may tell a story if we remember that there was a later Aaron Griffith in Mecklenburg County. Question??? Did Peter Aaron bear any relationship to David Griffith's wife, or an earlier ancestor? Was Aaron Griffith David's son? In other words, was the pious Aaron Griffith our Jonas's nephew? At present I do not see any evidence of a closer relationship but it is something to keep in mind. There is a very remote possibility that Peter Aaron or his parents could be our ancestors, though I wouldn't count on it.

Remembering how badly those backcountry clerks spelled, and having run into several instances of Griffith written Griffey, I've been watching for Griffins as well. My heart did a flip-flop for a while when I came upon the next entries, until I realized they really did mean Griffen (unless they confused Kentucky with Georgia, which I doubt).

Book A, Pages 219-222: 20 Dec 1785, Charles Pence cupper of Lancaster Co, to Henry Peebles of Lancaster, planter, (lease 10, release B 100) ..land granted 22 Jan 1759, to Robert Harper, 300 A, which the Pence did sell 50 A on Great Lynches Creek, a branch called Flatt Creek.. adj Catran Bridger, Jonas Griffen..Carl Bentz (signed in German) (Seal), Wit: James Bridges, Edward Reynolds, David King. Prov. by James Bridges, 9 Feb 1786, before John Marshel, J. P.

Lancaster SC Deed Abstracts, Cont'd

(Deeds must not have been entered in exact chronological order!)

✓ Book C&E, Pp 48-9: 27 July 1789. Jonas Griffin of State of Georgia, to Ferguson Haile of Lancaster Co..for £100 sterling..land on Flat Creek, 150A part of 300 A conveyed from Robert Harper, to John Sill, and from John Sill to Jonas Griffin (Seal), Wit: James Ferguson, Benjamin Hail, George Palmer. Prov. by James Ferguson, before Benjamin Hail, J. P. 22 Mar 1790.

Same book, Pp 52-54: 11 Feb 1775, John Martan Strofer of Craven Co., and wife Sarah, to Benjamin Hail of same, planter, 75A in St. Marks Parish, Craven Co., on both sides Flat Creek, adj. Robert Harper, Andrew Jones, surveyed 5 Oct 1758 for John Baker... John Martain Strofer (MJ) (Seal), Sarah Strofer (S) (Seal), Wit: Jonas Griffin, ✓ P. P. Clerk. Prov. by Jonas Griffin, before William Welch, 30 Jan 1779.

(Note: This Jonas Griffin, according to the above, seems to have at one time owned 300 acres or more on Great Lynches Creek, at or on a branch called Flat Creek. It is not clear from this whether or when he disposed of all of it; and, not knowing where Flat Creek was, just how close it was to David Griffith's land. Jonas seems to have been literate, signing his own name whereas many residents signed their initials. See map)

Our Jonas Griffith could not have been in Georgia and Kentucky at the same time. However, in case the spelling of the surname changed in one generation (which I doubt in this case) there is the following to consider: The "three brothers" story says Jonas named sons for himself and his two brothers, David and John. Ergo, David could have named a son for his brother, Jonas. This is the best I could come up with--not too good, huh?

Following are some other entries which may or may not have any significance. Some concern the Grahams, some Gen. Griffith Rutherford who is said to have "probably" had Griffith relatives in the area, some a Walker family, remembering that there were Walkers from SC who were neighbors of John W. Griffith in Iowa, some just colorful to give an indication of how things were in that place and time.

Book C&E, Pp 40-43: 10 Feb 1774, Griffith Rutherford of Roan Co NC to Charles Miller Junr of Craven Co SC for £30, land on S side Twelve Mile Creek adj John Haggins, Samuel Barnets, William Brown..Griffith Rutherford (Seal) Wit: Charles Miller Senr, Henry Rutherford, James Lindsey (X). Prov. 13 Feb 1775, by Charles Miller Senr bef James Patton, JF

Pp 68:13 Feb 1789, William Woods in Camden Dist, Lancaster Co.. to Henry Ployler of same, (lease $10, release £28 sterling) 100 A on waters of Lynches Creek, granted to sd. Wm. Woods, 1 Oct 1787.. William Woods (Seal) Wit: William Graham, Paul Plyler..Prov bef John Craig

See Jeram Griffith genealogy following. This shows Jones "Griffin" of the State of Georgia in July 1789. Our Jones Griffith was in Kentucky that year. They cannot be the same men!

INTRODUCTION

For those of us infected with the disease known as genealogitis, the pursuit of unknown ancestors is ever present. Family histories and genealogies are always out-of-date because there is always a new birth and death, a new marriage, and new research on those illusive ancestors. This supplement represents research completed after my book, Along The Neuse. The Craven Bryan Griffin Family, 1729-1992 was published in 1993.¹ The discovery of the parents and ancestors of Benjamin Griffen of Craven County, North Carolina has long eluded family researchers. It was quite by luck, hard research, and tips and assistance from experienced genealogy professionals that I can now offer my research findings to the family.

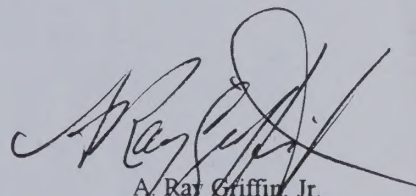

Particular thanks to the following friends for their guidance and assistance are in order: Mrs. Clifford S. Dwyer, a longtime Griffin researcher, historian, and professional genealogist; Mrs. Mary Leigh Boisseau, a noted Virginia genealogist and historian; Mrs. Jean Mihalyka, a noted Eastern Shore historian and Virginia genealogists; my wife Ida and daughter Katie, for allowing me to spend all of those hours in the library and archives and in front of the computer. This supplement would not have been possible without the assistance of these friends and for that I will forever be grateful.

Readers should not be confused about the linkage of the name Griffin to the Griffith family. Both name forms are from the Welsh. One must also remember that early Clerks and Scribes spelled phonetically. Several Northampton County, Virginia records interchange the names Griffith and Griffin in the same document for the same person.

Accawmack County was one of the original eight Shires created in 1634. In 1642/3 the name was changed to Northampton County and in 1663 the county was divided, forming Accomack County in the northern part of the peninsula and Northampton County being retained in the southern half of the peninsula.² All county records for Northampton and Accawmack from 1634 to 1663 are found in Northampton Records at Eastville, VA and the Virginia State Archives in Richmond, VA. It is unique in that all of its Records are extant, thereby providing a bonus for anyone researching ancestors on the Eastern Shore.

Even though this supplement adds another significant chapter to Along The Neuse and our family history, the search is by no means over. The question has now evolved into the following: who were the parents of Jerom Griffith and who were the parents of William Gelding and his wife Elizabeth ??? Sometimes I am almost convinced that they came from Mars!!

Despite proofing and checking, I am confident that this Supplement contains errors and omissions. Readers are encouraged to submit corrections, amplifications, and comments to the writer.

CHAPTER ONE
THE JEROM GRIFFITH FAMILY

First Generation

1. Jerom¹ Griffith was born ca 1639.³ Died: ca May 1708 in Northampton Co, VA.⁴ Will: 14 Mar 1707/8 in Northampton Co, VA.⁵ Resided: Capeville area of Northampton Co, VA, on Magotha Bay at Pimino Branch.⁶ Occupation: Cooper.

Jerom Griffith is the earliest known ancestor that has been discovered for our branch of the Griffin family. It is not known if he is the immigrant ancestor; however, I have been unable to find references to him prior to 1660 in any other Virginia county or in Maryland. In 1660, he, along with Nicholas Phillips, is shown in the Records as being responsible for a debt owed to William Kendall in the amount of 100 pounds current money of England.⁷ Court Records indicate that he had been living in Northampton County since 1660.⁸ Court Records further indicate that he was a Cooper as early as 1666 and was literate. The later point is very interesting since none of his sons were literate.⁹ This fact, along with the 1660 debt owed to William Kendall would indicate that he may well have been the immigrant ancestor; however, this is speculation at this point and further research is needed.

Jerom Griffith is found in numerous land and court records of the era. He is first found acquiring 100 acres on the seaboard side from John Wilkins in 1666¹⁰ On 24 Dec 1667 he sells property to John Waterman.¹¹ Regrettably, the description does not give any indication if the land is the property he previously purchased from Wilkins or if it came from another source. In 1673 he purchased 200 acres from William James (Junis) Senr.¹² On 23 Mar 1675/6 he received a 345 acre patent on Pimeno Branch.¹³ In 1707 he divided his property on Pimeno Branch among several of his children: Benjamin Griffith, Jonas Griffith, James Griffith and Jerom Griffith.¹⁴

Whitelaw traces Jerom Griffith's land as being part of an original patent to Edmund Scarborough for 400 acres in 1638. The area, identified as N16 by Whitelaw, was described as being between two creeks, Purgatory to the south and Peminoe to the north.¹⁵ Both Peminoe Creek and Purgatory Creek have disappeared from modern maps. Through the gracious efforts of Mrs. Jean M. Mihalyka, it has been determined that Purgatory Creek is now known as Walls Landing Creek. Other old land records refer to a creek north of Peminoe Creek as Andrews Creek. That creek, by all probabilities, is now referred to on modern maps as Mill Creek. Peminoe Creek is shown as an unnamed creek between these two creeks. There are several old Griffith burial grounds in this area.¹⁶ This area is shown on page 2 of this Supplement.

In January 1678 Jerom Griffith is cited in a suit between John Joboul orphan who was indentured as a servant to him, to be trained as a Cooper.¹⁷ Perhaps the most valuable court reference occurred in 1689 when it was recorded that he was about 50 years of age and had lived in the area for about 29 years.¹⁸ The other most significant court record is his will in which he names his children as follows: sons - Jonah (Jonas), Luke, Thomas, Benjamin, Jerom; daughters - Francis Hall, Esther Freshwater, Dorothy Hayes, Elizabeth Freshwater, Margaret Griffith.¹⁹

He married Elizabeth Gelding, daughter of William Gelding and Elizabeth //, before 31 Jul 1665 in Northampton Co, VA.²⁰ It is significant to note the Cattle Mark registration made by Jerom Griffith in 1665. The notation reads as follows: *Jerom Griffith his mark of cattle entered being formerly his wifes cattle giver her by Esq. Yardly when she was a Child.*²¹ [NOTE: Research is currently ongoing in an effort to determine if there is a connection to the Yearly line]. Born: ca 1649 in Northampton Co, VA.²² Died: after 13 Feb 1722, assumed Northampton Co, VA. She is mentioned in her son's will (James) that his daughter Martha is to remain with my Mother.²³

Children:

- + 2 i. Benjamin² Griffith.
- + 3 ii. Luke Griffith.
- + 4 iii. Elizabeth Griffith.
- + 5 iv. Thomas Griffith.

Second Generation

2. Benjamin² H. Griffith (Jerom¹), son of Jerom Griffith and Elizabeth Gelding, was born ca 1672 in Northampton Co, VA.²⁴ Died: before 21 Jul 1719 in Northampton Co, VA.²⁵ Will: 17 Feb 1718 in Northampton Co, VA.²⁶ Resided: Pimino Branch and Magotha Bay area.

On 1 Jul 1709 he sold the plantation upon which he lived to John Baker. The plantation was formerly his wife's, Mary, property given to her by her late husband William Batchelor.²⁷ He attested to the validity of his brother's, James Griffeth will 27 Feb 1717 in Northampton Co, VA.²⁸ In his will, Benjamin names his children as follows: sons - Benjamin and Luke; no daughters mentioned; Sister - Elizabeth More, Brothers - Thomas Griffith and Jonas Griffith. Benjamin apparently died young because his will mentions his two sons when they become of age at 16 and they would receive their share of the estate at age 18. A brief abstract of the will provides the following information: To my son Luke the south side of my plantation bounded by Jurram (Jerom) Griffith, to son Benjamin the northern 50 acres of my land, but for want of my two son's heirs then Luke's land to my sister Elizabeth More's son Thomas More, and Benjamin's land to my brother Thomas Griffith's son Thomas. My brother Thomas and my two sons executors. My two sons to be at age when 16 and to receive their estates when 18. If my two sons die without heirs, then their estates to my brothers Jonas and Thomas. Wit: William Willett, Jonas (x) Griffith, Cornelious Loughland.²⁹

Benjamin Griffith married Mary //, widow of William Bachelor.³⁰ It is assumed that she died prior to 17 Feb 1718 since she is not mentioned in her husband's will.

His wife's name is unknown to the writer and it is assumed that she predeceased him since she is not mentioned in his will. From the way the will is written, James died young and left all minor children. His son James is to remain with his brother Luke Griffith and his daughter Martha is to remain with his mother, Elizabeth Griffith. All of the rest of his children (unnamed) were to remain with his executor and brother, Luke Griffith. The will was witnessed by John Bibbe, Benjamin Griffith and Thomas Griffith.

Children:

Occupation: Planter.

In his will, Jerom gives 50 acres to son William and 50 acres to son Jerom which formerly belonged to his brother Jonas Griffith and the remaining estate was to be divided between all of his children, but they are unnamed. The will does not mention a wife, so it is assumed that she predeceased him. Witnesses were Susannah Bowdoin and John Shelton and son William was the executor. The wife of Jerom Griffeth Jr. is unknown to this writer.

The basis for proving the relationship between the Craven County, NC Griffin family groups of Benjamin, Solomon and Jonas Griffin and Ann Griffin Coward and the Jerom Griffith family of Northampton County, VA is summarized as follows:

1. The Moses Griffin Law Suit establishes that Benjamin Griffin, Solomon Griffin, Jonas Griffin and Ann Griffin Coward were siblings. It also establishes that Jonas Griffin had the following children: Major, Benjamin, Jonas, and Jennette.⁷⁰
2. The Feb 1757 deed from Ann Griffin, Spinster to grandsons Benjamin and Major Griffin prove that they are the sons of Jonas Griffin and that she is the mother of Jonas Griffin. By virtue of the Moses Griffin Lawsuit and this deed, we know that this would also make her the mother of Benjamin, Solomon and Ann. She signs the deed with a "C" mark.⁷¹
3. The Oct 1727 deed from Benjamin Griffith Planter and Ann Griffith widow and relic of Jonas Griffith dec'd proves that Ann was the wife of Jonas Griffith: Jonas Griffith was the son of Jerom Griffith, and that Benjamin Griffith was the son of Ann Griffith since he signs with her to sell the property. Benjamin signs with a large "B" mark, facing left. Ann signs with a "C" mark. Neither appear in Northampton County, Virginia Records after this date.
4. On 15 May 1728 Benjamin Griffin purchased 400 acres from William Goodman on the Potecassi Branch near the Meherrin River in Bertie County, NC.⁷²
5. The Jerom Griffith family of Northampton County, Virginia had association with the West, Cox, Loftin, Hill, Holloway and Kendall families. These same relationships existed in North Carolina and as parts of the family migrated further south into South Carolina and Georgia. A Cornelius Loughland witnessed the will of Benjamin Griffith (1719) and a Cornelius Loftin sells property to Benjamin Griffith in Craven Co, NC.

"UNLINKED" GRIFFITHS

The descendants of Jerom Griffith (d. 1707) are numerous. Research into the middle of the 18th century has led me to find many Griffiths that I have been unable to link with the established descendants of Jerom Griffith. It seems as though every family had a Luke, Thomas, Benjamin and William in the early years and a Moses and Nathan in the later years. There is no doubt that these Griffiths are descendants of Jerom Griffith; however, the linking of them to his descendants remain for future research. It is hoped that readers will be able to help unravel these mysteries and share that information with this researcher, and others searching for those illusive Griffith ancestors.

CHAPTER TWO
THE WILLIAM GELDING FAMILY

Elizabeth Gelding, wife of Jerom Griffith, was the daughter of William Gelding and Elizabeth //. A brief summary of the early Gelding family is provided in the following pages:

First Generation

1. William¹Gelding, father of Elizabeth Gelding, is our earliest known Gelding ancestor. Died: ca. Mar 1688 in Northampton Co, VA.¹²⁰ Will: 11 Nov 1684 in Northampton Co, VA.¹²¹ Immigrant Ancestor.

An abstract of his will is as follows: ...Being ancient and lame... I confirm my deed of gift of 200 acres to my son Charles Gelding. To my other son William Gelding the remaining half of my land, it being the part where I now live. To my eldest daughter Elizabeth Griffin, to daughter Katherine Moore, to daughter Danirus Pike, to daughter Ellenor Moore. My loving wife Elizabeth Gelding, legatee and executrix. Signed: William (x) Gelding Sr. Witnessed: Thomas (TC) Coffin, William Howard, John Burroughes.

William Gelding first appears in Records as being imported by William Burdett. Burdett received 1,050 acres in Accomack County on the seaboard side on 18 Mar 1639 for importing William Gelding and 19 other persons.¹²² On 28 Mar 1666, William Gelding received 400 acres in Northampton County which had formerly been granted to Wm. Birditt, dec'd and found to have escheated.¹²³ Whitelaw shows that William Gelding's land was part of an original patent to Stephen Charlton in 1637 and has identified it as section N25.¹²⁴ This area is several miles north of Jerom Griffith's land, on the seaboard side of the peninsula.

Gelding is an unusual name and may be found under variant spellings as follows: Gelding, Geldinge, Gilding, Golding, Goulding, Guilding, Gildin, and Gilden.

He married Elizabeth // before 10 Feb 1644/5. Both appear together in early Northampton County, Virginia Court Records on 10 Feb 1644/5 when they testified on behalf of John Cogan.¹²⁵ Died: before 9 Apr 1698 in Northampton Co, VA.¹²⁶ Will: 31 Jan 1698 in Northampton Co, VA.¹²⁷

An abstract of Elizabeth's will is provided as follows: ...Being very anchient... to my sons Charles and William Gelding, to my daughters Elizabeth the wife of Jerom Griffith, Katherin the wife of Gilbert Moore, and Ellenor the wife of Thomas Moore...All my remaining estate to the three children (not of legal age) of my son William, viz., Luke, Osbourne, and Elizabeth Gelding which he had by his first wife Ann Gelding, dec'd. My friends and neighbors John Stockly Sr and William Wilson executors. Signed: Elizabeth (E) Gelding. Witnesses: Mathew Moore, Elizabeth Moore, George Noble. Probated 9 Apr 1698.

INTRODUCTION

I have often heard that we Griffins are of Irish descent; however, it more likely that our Griffin line has its origins in Wales. In Ireland, the name has the forms O'Griffin, Griffey, O'Griobhtha, Griobhtha, or griffin-like. Additionally, some Irish Griffins have their origins in Wales, as in the Griffith named families. [Edward MacLysaght. The Surnames of Ireland, 6th ed (Dublin: Irish Academic Press Ltd, 1989), p. 137.] In Wales, according to The Oxford Dictionary of English Christian Names, Griffin is said to be derived from L Rufus or Rufus. It was the name of several Welch princes and also in the counties of the Welch Marshes. Variations on the name's spelling include: Griffin, Griffen, Gruffin, Gruffydd, Griffith, Griffith, Gryffyn, Griffis, Griffinus, etc. [E. G. Withycombe. The Oxford Dictionary of English Christian Names (New York: Oxford University Press, 1947), p. 66.]

Surnames first originated around 1000 AD and developed as a means to identify individuals. Miller became a name for one that milled. Carpenter became a name for one that was a carpenter. It has been suggested that the name Griffin derived from the Crusades when soldiers used the image of a griffin on their shields. They would have the symbolic meanings of being bold, brave, and courageous.

Webster's Dictionary defines a griffin (griffon, gryphon) as a fabulous animal typically having a head, forepart, and wings like those of an eagle with erect ears, forelegs like the legs of an eagle, and body, hind legs, and tail like those of a lion. The griffin may be found in architecture, furniture, and literature.

Many family members have asked if I would reproduce the Griffin coat-of-arms as part of this project. The fact that a Griffin coat-of-arms exists (and several do exist), it is unknown if our line of Griffins is entitled to a coat-of-arms. Research will have to first trace our Griffins from 1728 America to the United Kingdom in order to ascertain if these rights exist. In American terms, a coat-of-arms is used more for aesthetic and artistic purposes rather than heraldry in its true sense. Given this dilemma, I could not in good faith reproduce a Griffin coat-of-arms for the family.

The Griffin family was prolific in early American history and may be found throughout the early colonies and states. Trying to sort through these many, many family lines is both exciting and frustrating. It is hoped that the research of Mrs. Clifford Dwyer, mentioned later, will help bring order to the Griffin lines.

At some point in time each of us yearns to know about our heritage. Who were our great grandparents? From where did my daughter's red hair come? What are my ethnic origins? The questions are endless and the answers often difficult to find, but once found, extremely rewarding and exciting. My interest in genealogy began a decade ago, however, it was not until four years ago that I began my research in earnest. My research will continue on the parentage of Benjamin Griffen. Many people have researched this family for years and have not been successful in finding his father. My hopes are to publish a second edition, updated from the data included in this book as well as provide new research information on our Griffin line prior to Benjamin Griffin.

Mrs. Clifford Dwyer of Gainesville, Florida, a good friend and long time Griffin researcher, is working on a prodigious project for Griffins in the South. My work will be given to her as part of her larger project. Anyone having Griffin family information not included within this book is encouraged to share that information with me and/or Mrs. Dwyer.

This family history project began as a modest attempt to collect information on my father's immediate family. My interest expanded to include the George Oliver Griffin family after I attended my first Griffin reunion in 1990. As work began on this family, I discovered the close relationship that existed between Great Grandpa George and his siblings in nearby Dover, Craven County; consequently, I decided that the work should be further expanded to include the entire family of Craven Bryan Griffin. Despite the temptation to further expand and add other branches of the Griffin Family Tree, I accepted the wisdom of my spouse, and decided to not expand the work further so that I could complete a relatively current family history within a reasonable amount of time.

The enormous amount of work that is required on a family's genealogy and history could not be possible without the help of many, many people. Mrs. Clifford Dwyer was instrumental in my training. I look to Cliff as a mentor. Kathleen Griffin Wilson, the true family historian of the George Oliver Griffin family, was a constant mentor and assistant throughout this project. Quite frankly, this book would not have been possible without Kathleen's help; hence her name on the title page.

Many people in the various family branches helped me gather data. Several went above and beyond the call of duty due to their passion for family history and their desire to see a family history prepared. These persons are as follows: Laura Merritt Hedgpeth and Rena Fitts Humphrey, both of Dover, were of tremendous assistance for the William B. Griffin line. Additionally, Rena provided me with the beautiful poem at the beginning of the book. Alta Casey Everett retrieved and organized the information on the Sarah Catherine Griffin Price line. Louise Suiter was the workhorse in getting information in on the various lines of the Jesse Harvey Griffin line. Marietta Griffin Franklin and Bernice Russell were the resource people for the John Wesley Piercely Griffin line. Mary White Hood, Virginia Brittian Copping, Mildred Dail, Patsy White Thompson, and Francis Buck Langston were the resource people for the Mary Eliza Griffin White line. Patsy was particularly instrumental and helpful and was willing to share her family history work of many years. There were many persons in the George Oliver Griffin line that were extremely helpful in getting information from the various branches of the family. These people are: Kathleen Griffin Wilson, Mary Lou Ward Phillips, Lynda Rouse Price, Mary Griffin McKellar, Bill Price, Judy Raiford Moye, Jesse Bell Raiford, Barbara Fyne Wood, Kim Hinson Benton, Margaret Raiford Butler, Charles L. Griffin, Anne Blanchard, Earl Price, and Hubert White. While many, many other family members submitted information, the aforementioned family members went above and beyond the call of duty to help make contacts, prepare information, proof materials, etc. This book would not have been possible without their gracious and unselfish assistance and my eternal gratitude and appreciation is extended to them.

Data on some individuals is more complete and detailed than for others. The amount of narrative, information, and documentation was based solely on the amount of information that I was able to obtain from the various family contacts that I was able to make. Some family members were quite generous with information; others were not. My apologies are sincerely extended for those not fully narrated or documented. As with any human project, error can and does occur. I tried to be accurate and complete; however, I am sure that errors, both typographic and misunderstandings, and omissions have occurred. Apologies are sincerely extended to those so affected. Corrected and updated information are requested so that the second edition can be properly updated. Family researchers should search for documentation not listed in the book and should always, double check those cited herein.

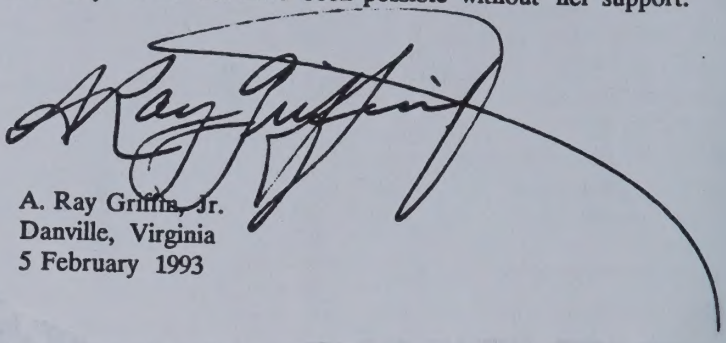

The book is organized by family groups which are linked by an alpha-numeric code. G1-5-2-A-5 would refer to an individual as follows: G1 = Benjamin Griffin; G1-5 = William Griffin; G1-5-2 = William Griffin, Jr; G1-5-2-A = Craven Bryan Griffin; G1-5-2-A-5 = George Oliver Griffin, etc. The numbering becomes clear as one reads through the book. It is basically a chronological mathematical progression.

Work on this project has exceeded my goals and expectations in meeting new family members and learning about my heritage. I am extremely proud of my Griffin heritage and am delighted to be able to call so many "new" cousins good friends. Families are dynamic. They grow, fracture, divide, and loose contact. Some lines continue to grow and some lines die out. It does take work to keep a family together. It is an honorable task in which we all must share.

One thing that work on this project revealed is that so many of us are related and living in close proximity, but are unaware of our common heritage. I would hope that this work would bring family members together and that we would begin to visit at the various family reunions and reestablish our larger family. The Levin B. Price/Sarah Griffin Price family reunion is held the second Sunday of June, at the Cliff of the Neuse Park, at Seven Springs. The George Oliver Griffin/Martha Ann Lindsey family reunion is held on the fourth Sunday of June at the Spring Creek Elementary School at Seven Springs. The Donnerson/Griffin/White family reunion is held the fourth Sunday of September at Fort Barnwell. Wouldn't it be nice if we could have a big family reunion for the descendants of Craven Bryan Griffin as a means for us to meet our "extended family?" I am sure that there are other reunions, but they are not known to me. It is requested that this information be sent to me so that it can be included in a supplement.

Finally, I cannot close without expressing my sincere love and appreciation to my wife, Ida, and daughter, Katie, for allowing me to take the hundreds upon hundreds of hours to prepare this book. Ida was a constant supporter and encouraged me to do well. This book truly would not have been possible without her support.

CRAVEN BRYAN GRIFFIN'S ANCESTORS

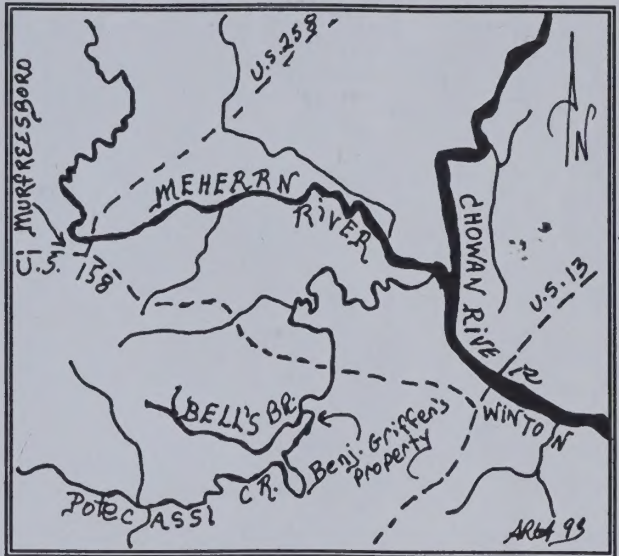

G1 Benjamin Griffen. Born, ca 1705, assumed in Virginia. Died, 1777, in Craven Co, NC. Buried, unknown, but assumed in Dover area on his farm. Will, 20 Aug 1775, in Craven Co, NC.¹ Probated, December 1777. No Estate Records survive.

Benjamin Griffen is our earliest known Griffen ancestor. He has been traced back to 1728 in Bertie Co, NC. Records show that he purchased 400 hundred acres in two tracts from William Goodman and wife. This property was located on the Potecassi Branch near the Meherrin River. The 350 acre tract was patented by William Goodman on 1 Aug 1727.² This property was sold in 1740 to Joseph Scott. This transaction is important because it links Benjamin Griffen to Craven Co, NC. An abstract of the deed reads as follows:

...Benjamin Griffen of Craven Co, NC, Planter...for forty pounds Current money...paid by Joseph Scott of Bertie Co, NC...one Certain Plantation Lying and being in Bertie County that William Goodman Built on and sealed containing...50 acres & three Hundred & fifty acres...as by patent...to...William Goodman Dated the first of August Anno Dom 1727, bounded by...the Potecasey...Thomas Bonner...Bells Branch...Aaron Odom...³

Bertie County was formed in 1722 from the Chowan District of Albermarle County and was named for James and Henry Bertie, two of the Lords Proprietors. The County stretched from the Virginia line to the Morratuck (Roanoke) River. Craven County was formed in 1705 as the Archdale Precinct of Bath County. Its name was changed to Craven in 1712, in honor of William, Lord Craven, one of the Lords Proprietors.

Benjamin Griffen first appears in Craven County land records in 1742 when he purchased 100 acres from his father-in-law's son, Lewis Bryan on Maul Run on Swifts Creek (current day Vanceboro, NC). He paid 60 pence for this tract "...where the above Lewis Bryan and Benjamin Griffen now lives..."⁴ He sold this tract in 1751 to Joshua Hill.⁵ Benjamin continued to accumulate property via land patents and purchase. On 30 Apr 1750 he purchased 100 acres from Francis Nunn on the lower side of Core Creek.⁶ He sold this tract to Samuel Slade in 1753.⁷ Core Creek is on the south side of the Neuse River and marks Benjamin's settlement into the Dover - Ft. Barnwell area. It was at this time that Benjamin acquired two separate tracts of land totaling 300 acres from Cornelius Lofton.⁸ It is these two tracts that places our family in the Moseley Creek area of Western Craven County. He acquired from the Crown a 150 acre plantation on Half Moon Swamp on 23 May 1757.⁹ On 7 Mar 1759 he received an additional 100 acres adjoining Cornelius Lofton on the Half Moon Swamp.¹⁰ He sold this tract in 1762 to Thomas Holloway.¹¹ Finally, on 28 Apr 1768, he acquired 200 acres on Ft. Barnwell, adjoining his own line and that of Longfield Cox on Mill Branch.¹² Benjamin Griffin sold 150 acres on the Half Moon Swamp to his brother, Solomon Griffin, in 1758.¹³ He sold 160 acres on Mill Branch at the Half Moon Branch to Smith Fields in 1764.¹⁴ In 1765, he sold 50 acres to Thomas Loftin on the Spring Branch.¹⁵ In 1760, he sold 350 acres to Silas Stevenson.¹⁶ In 1775, shortly before he died, Benjamin deeded, for love and good will and affection, 200 acres to his son, Benjamin. It included *...land and plantation whereon the said Benjamin Griffen now dwells...*¹⁷

Deeds tell us that Benjamin Griffin made the following migrations:

pre 1728 Unknown, but currently under research

1728 Potecassi Branch, Bertie County, NC

1740 Swift Creek area, Craven Co, NC. North Side Neuse River

1750 Core Creek area, Craven Co, NC. South Side Neuse River

1753 Moseley Creek area, Craven Co, NC. South side Neuse River.

The records of the era are minimal, but several do survive which give us some clues about Benjamin Griffen. Craven County Court Records show that he served as a Juror several times. In one instance, he had to appear before the Court to explain his absence as a Juror as follows: *Benjamin Griffin being Summoned & Called to show Cause why he did not attend as a Juror to June Court last failed to appear and it being Represented to the Court that he was a Cripple he was therefore Excused. Sep 1749 Court.*¹⁸ In 1743, he was appointed by the Court to serve with other men to ...appraise one acre of land to the best Convenience of the sd Mill & make return to Next Court... The Mill was to be built by Samuel Martin on Mauls Run.¹⁹ We know that he was a Planter and owned a great deal of land. He owned personal property and slaves and was savvy enough to leave a will. He was active in the affairs of the community. He was illiterate, having used a large B as his mark. He was a Christian.

The State Records of North Carolina advise us that Benjamin Griffen served in the Craven County Militia. He is listed as a Sergeant in ...A List of Foot Company of Soldiers Commanded by Capt. Thomas Graves, by Commission Bearing Date the Sixth of January, 1751, for the district from The Lower side of Sow West Crick to the Town Bounds. He is listed as a member of *...The Craven County Troop of Horse Commanded by Captain Peter Rutgers...dated 15 April 1758 in New Bern.*²⁰

His will is dated 20 Aug 1775 and was probated in December 1777. A verbatim transcript of the will is provided as follows:

He married Mary Bryan, daughter of John Bryan and Elizabeth Joyner, ^{Alice Macque} ca. 1739 in Craven Co, NC. Born, ca. 1724. Died, after 1775. It is interesting to note that he and two of his brothers, Solomon Griffen and Jonas Griffen married two of Mary's sisters, Sarah and Alice. These relationships, and many others, are preserved in the Moses Griffen law suit records. It is these records that proves that she is the daughter of John Bryan and the wife of Benjamin Griffen.²¹

Children:

1. Keziah Griffen. She married John Hill.
2. Jesse Griffen. Died, 1807, Camden, SC.
3. Benjamin Griffen. He married Abigail (Markland?). Died, 1811, Craven Co, NC. Will, 10 Mar 1811, Craven Co, NC.²² His will lists the following children: Bryan Griffin, Sally Griffin, Mary Polly Griffin, Lewis Griffin, Rebecca Griffin, Alice Ailsy Griffin, Jesse Griffin, Abigail Griffin.
4. Mary Griffin. She married Robert Johnson.
5. William Griffin. G1-5. See information later in this chapter.

The name Bryan is an ancient Irish name and dates back to the year 1002. It derives its name and historical importance from the family of King Brian Boru. Other forms, O'Briain, O'Bryne, Bryan (Norman).²³

John Bryan, father of Mary Bryan. Born, ca. 2 Jan 1691/2, in Isle of Wight Co, VA.²⁴ Died, 31 Oct 1741, in Craven Co, NC. Will, 31 Oct 1741, in Craven Co, NC.²⁵ Probated, Jun 1742, in Craven Co, NC.²⁶ Buried, unknown location.

John Bryan was a large land owner and a Planter. He is found in numerous land records and lived on Beard Creek and Swift Creek. His son, Lewis Bryan, sold land to his sons-in-law, Benjamin Griffin and Solomon Griffin. Both tracts were passed to Lewis from his father and were located at Mauls Run on Swift Creek for Benjamin Griffin and at the head of Beard's Creek for Solomon Griffin.²⁷

John Bryan's noncupulative will indicates that he died somewhat unexpectedly. His daughter Sarah Bryan was appointed sole executor on 1 Nov 1741. The will was probated in June 1742. The significance of this was that the Inventory of the estate was submitted by ...Solomon Griffin who hath intermarried with the exect of the Last Will & Testament of the Decd...²⁸ This establishes that Sarah married Solomon Griffin between 1 Nov 1741 and Jun 1742. Excerpts from his will are provided as follows:

Whereas John Bryan of Beard Creek late of the previously ? province being taken for Death ... that all his Just Debts should be paid. Secondly he did give & bequeath to his son Lewis Bryan the Plantation whereon he the Deceased did live lying on Beard Creek ... Thirdly he the Deceased viz.

He married Elizabeth Joyner, daughter of Bridgman Joyner and Anna ?, in 1716 in Isle of Wight Co, VA.³⁰ Born, ca. 1699, Isle of Wight Co, VA. Died, assumed prior to 31 Oct 1741 due to the fact that she is not mentioned in her husband's will and her daughter Sarah was given the responsibility to rear the minor children. Buried, unknown location. Bridgman Joyner gave his daughter and new husband a gift deed for 200 acres on 26 Nov 1716.³¹

Children:

1. Sarah Bryan. She married Soloman Griffen.
2. Alice Bryan. She married Jonas Griffen.
3. Mary Bryan. She married Benjamin Griffen.
4. Joanna Bryan. She married Daniel Vindrick.
5. Lewis Bryan. He married ?.
6. Elizabeth Bryan. She married Richard Hart.

He married Alice Macque (see correction in Supplement No. 1)

William Bryan,³² father of John Bryan. Born, ca. 1655, in Ireland. Died, ca. 1742, in Pasquotank Co, NC. Buried, unknown location.

Records on William Bryan are scant, however, it is thought that he emigrated from Ireland to Virginia ca. 1689-90. He was a justice of the peace, sheriff, and delegate for Pasquotank County to the colonial assembly in 1739.³³ He married Lady Alice Needham, daughter of Lord Robert Needham in England. Undocumented Bryan family papers indicate that William was the Marquis of Thomond and was Catholic, while Alice was Protestant. It is suggested that they came to America because of their religious beliefs which made living in England nearly impossible.

Children:

1. Needham Bryan
2. John Bryan
3. William Bryan

Mr. Griffin :

We saw your website on "The Jerom Griffith Family, Northampton Co, VA" - Supplement No. 1.

My wife (Billie) is a descendant of a Jonas Griffith, born around 1745, from NC who settled in Jackson Co, TN about 1800 and died there 1826. We think he was from the Jerom Griffith family, possibly even the Jonas you mention who was the son of Jonas who died 1786 Lancaster, SC.

We are interested in purchasing your books and would appreciate receiving information about prices. Enclosed is a return envelope and a sheet for data.

William Teater House
Buckeye Road

Notable for its fan medallion and entrance detailing, the Teater house was built by William Teater around 1830. William Teater was a descendent of George Teater, Sr., and Samuel Teater who came to Garrard County in the late eighteenth century. Shortly after their arrival, they founded the village of Teatersville which still bears their name. The house was later owned by James Alex Doty, Maggie Sadler Walker, and Kemp Walker.

Architecturally, the house represents Garrard County's best example of the transition from the early nineteenth century Federal style to the mid-nineteenth century Greek Revival style. The central entrance is framed by fluted Ionic columns and sidelights. Below the sidelights are fluted medallions.

The present owners are Newland and Minnie Francis Walker May.

Gd-29
Mt. Olivet Methodist Church
Ky. 152

The Mt. Olivet Methodist Church is one of Garrard County's oldest frame church sanctuaries. Designed in the Italianate style, it is rectangular in shape with a gable roof and segmentally arched windows.

The Danville and Lexington Circuits of the Methodist Episcopal Church were formed in 1788. By 1793, the Danville Circuit included the counties of Mercer, Lincoln, Garrard, and Madison. The earliest church records list Garrett's Meeting House as the first Methodist Church organized in Garrard County. Mt. Olivet was the second church.

On March 20, 1840, Meredith and Lucy Kersey deeded 2 acres to the trustees of the Mt. Olivet congregation for twenty dollars. The original church built on the site was made of stone and it was replaced by the present wooden structure in 1886. There is a large cemetery surrounding the church. Today, the descendants of the first Methodist families in Kentucky continue to worship at the historic Mt. Olivet Methodist Church.

Paragraph 2 above pertains to Rev. Samuel Griffith, our ancestor, ordained by 1796, in the Danville Circuit.

"Nothing is more easy than to make Indians sensible, that they ought not to expect to be paid by different Colonies for the same Service; But they have Sense enough not to refuse it.....inclosed Copy of a Letter which I wrote to Mr. Croghan, Sir William Johnson's Deputy in the Northern Department, by way of answer to a Letter Capt. Pearis received from him by the same Express that brought your Packet, inviting the before mentioned Party of Cherokees to Fort Loudoun in Pennsylvania, to receive a present provided for them by that Government, in Consequence of the Message they had sent to Govr. Denny, offering their assistance to him also....

"I consider Pearis as the Spring of this Mischief, who being then in the Pay & Service of this Government, and in Breach of his Orders, turning his Back upon & baulking a Matter of Importance (being certainly conscious of his intended Discharge for Misbehavior,) carried Wawhatchee's said Party over Potowmack, in order to make a Merit with Governments of Maryland and Pennsylvania, by offering their Assistance...There are many strokes in Wawhatchee's Message to you...He sent you even a list of what he wanted (as he had done here to Govr. Dinwiddie.) He slighted the present of 100 pounds, tho' he would not have left a less one behind him. He refused to give up the Scalps for the large Reward of 50 pounds each on pretence of a point of Honor, but in Truth, that he might receive the Virginia Reward also. This money might have been saved; because Paris knew that being then in the Pay & Service of this Colony, they were obliged to deliver these Scalps here, for 10 pounds each, and 45 pounds for a prisoner.....

"On the 8th, most of Wawhatchee's Party stole away in the Morning privately, to get the presents intended at Fort Loudoun in Pennsylvania. But Mr. Croghan who was to have delivered it, on a few Lines of Notification I sent by Express at their Heels, just to put him on his Guard, resolved, before my other Letter at large reached him, not to transact any thing whatsoever with them. Pearis who the same Day asked Leave of me most earnestly, to go to his new Duty in Maryland, but promised solemnly he would not go until Smith, whom I had sent for, should come to me, followed them the next Morning without saying a Word to me more; leaving me without an Interpreter to speak to those that remained in this Town."

(This very long letter, a larger part of it omitted, rambles on...)

This letter to Governor Sharpe had no affect on the commission as a Captain in the Maryland Provincials which he had just recently given to Richard Pearis. His feeling on the subject was probably about the same as that of the Pennsylvanians, like Colonel Armstrong's, below. With some reservations, they decided to cooperate with Atkin--who did not realize it, but his penuriousness with His Majesty King George's funds was teaching the Colonies how to unite 19 short years later, but this time against King George.

Letter 19 June 1757, Carlisle, Colonel John Armstrong to Honorable William Denny, Governor of Pennsylvania

"May it Please your Honr, On the seventh Inst, per advice of Col. Stanwix, I set out with Mr. Croghan for Fort Loudon, carrying the Provincial Present for the Cherokees, under an Escort of Eighty Men, expecting, after the delivery of the Present, to have been join'd by Capt. Parris & a party of the Indians, and to have reconnoitred the Country towards the Alleghany Hill, as far as was Possible with what Provision the Men cou'd carry on their Backs.

"On going to Loudon, Capt. Croghan recd a long Letter from Mr. Atkins, letting him know that thirty-three Cherokees had Stole away towards Pennsylvania without his knowledge, and without a Chief, for which he also blamed Paris, in first fetching them over Potomack, forbidding Mr. Croghan to send for, speak to, or give any thing to them, but immediately to come to him at Winchester; ..Mr. Croghan shew'd me the Letter and desir'd I would go with him, to which gave them something on acct of the Pennsylvania Present, which Mr. Croghan is to refund him out of it, keeping the residue for a part of the Eighty Indians who, with the Swallow Warrior, have been on duty betwixt Fort Cumberland & Fort Du Quisne, and were to go within Twenty five Miles of Winchester on their return to see Mr. Atkins.

family outline

I don't think an Griffiths was from NC

According to Unproved Family Tradition of One Branch, Three Brothers ^{any more} came to North Carolina in the 1750's perhaps from Wales (though an even earlier descendant of that same branch claimed his gg-grandfather, Jones, was kidnapped at age 5 and brought to America from Wales!).

The brothers are said to have been John, much the eldest, David whom we have been unable to confirm or trace though that was a common name in the clan; and Jones a child or young teenager who lived with his elder brother.

Though there are historical inaccuracies as the story was related by the Texan Hardin Griffith to his son Guy in the US Navy in ~~the~~ 1920s, many aspects of his tale ring true. Hardin's sincerity is obvious. Information collected by Sylvan Griffith, Allen & Billie Pringle, myself and others.

Projected Outline, subject to Corrections which will be Appreciated

- A. John Griffith, oldest brother born perhaps 1740 or earlier died 1778/9 leaving a young widow Elizabeth, whom he married ca 1761/2. They lived in Serry Co NC on Stewart's Creek near Arrarat River a little west of present Mt Airy, home of Actor Andy Griffith. As of 1774 he was an Ensign in the Serry Co. Militia under Capt. Martin Armstrong. Children:
- I. Benjamin Griffith (ca 1763-18--) married and had a family who moved to Ashe Co. NC, after Sylvan Co. Says they had the sons Samuel, Way, James & David and ~~had 528 brothers in Tennessee.~~
 - II John Griffith (ca 1765-18) To Madison/Gerrard Co Ky ca 1790 and Jackson TN by 1802. See forward
 - III Daniel Griffith (ca 1767-) not followed
 - III Samuel Griffith (ca 1768-ca 1837) to Ky with brother John and to Jackson Co TN ca 1817 or before. See forward.
 - IV ~~(perhaps) Hester Griffith, (17 -- 18 --) daughter not followed. Tell~~
 - V ~~(perhaps) Elizabeth Griffith (17 -- 18 --) daughter not followed. Tell~~
- It is possible that one or both of these ladies were Hester who married George Tector of (present) Carroll Co Ky ca 1800 and for Elender Griffith who married Richard Lock the son of Hester ~~married~~ three children
- Another possibility is Elender Griffith married a blow as possible daughter of Jones ~~born~~, Section C below.

1797 Tax List, Garrard Co Kentucky

Griffith, James (probably misreading of Jones) poll for 1 man over 21, 3 horses
" " Jr. ^{exempt from poll,} 2 horses
" John no land owned by any of the four 1 poll, white male over 16 ^{1 horse}
" Samuel 1 poll, man over 21, 2 blacks, 3 horses

Various Harries listed (John Harries had 311 acres on Sugar Creek, Joseph Ray 125 acres on Point Lick, Joseph Hamm the miller was exempt from taxes but had 2 blacks.

Joel Short Sr, Isaac Short & Jackson Short each had one horse, no land. Abigail VanCleave had 850 acres at Point Lick & 2500 at Dr. Harris's place in Shelby. She was George Tester's wife.

part of the book (mother-in-law not a bitch. Perhaps Tester boarded with her while attending Point Lick Academy.) The Testers were well listed & had blacks & horses - George Sr. had land.

1799 Tax List, Garrard Co. Kentucky

Griffith, John living in upper district - 1 white male & 2 horses

" Samuel " " lower " - " " 1 black male, 1 horse, ^{1 horse, 1 horse}

John Barnes - 2 polls upper dist, 1 black, 2 horses

Joel Short - 1 poll " " 1 horse + the other shorts, as shown above plus various Reynolds, Rays, Harries, VanCleave, Testers et al.

As of 1799 Jones & Jones Jr Griffith were not mentioned. Perhaps they got to Boone Co. Ky sooner than John & Samuel. How early in the year the list was made not stated, but obviously they were in Garrard Co, but not in the same district, in early 1799.

Xerox copies at the DAR Library are quite expensive but if so many pages had not been involved they could have been copied instead of extracting data. Keys to interpreting the data were not on the same pages as the data.

* Unless it was a misprint, it would appear John was younger than Samuel in the 1797 poll. I think they got to, because John had been on poll taxes for several years by then! By 1796 Samuel was already a Methodist minister. A wedding drawing from Sarah (Tester) Griffith's family may be why he had slaves and more horses - from the Kentucky Gazette we know he was living at the mouth of Sugar Creek (junction at the Kentucky River) now called lower district. The Lancaster district (or another higher elevation) would probably be upper district not far away at all.

CHAPTER I.

BEGINNINGS.¹

Orange County was formed in 1752 from the western portions of Granville, Johnston, and Bladen counties, counties that experienced phenomenal growth in population after 1740. Its formation, in a time of poor roads and great distances, was a matter of necessity for the western settlers.

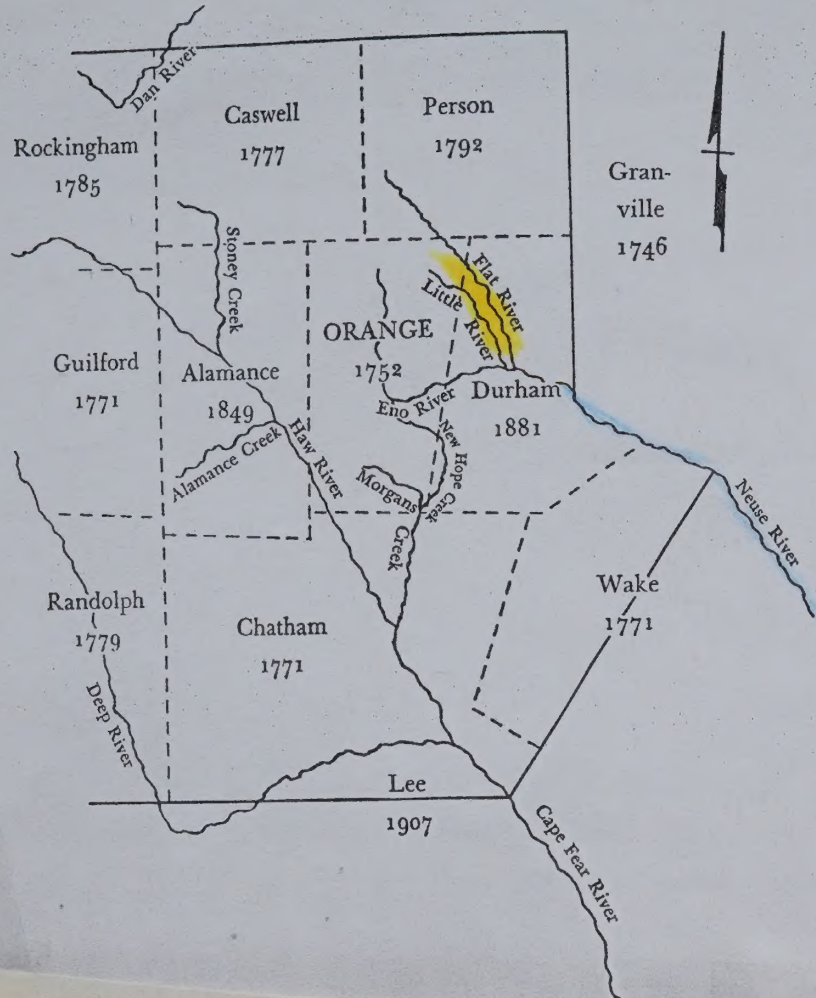

The name of this Piedmont county was well chosen, considering the vigorous leadership that its citizens gave for a democratic government in the colony and state of North Carolina. Orange was the name of William III's dynasty. William ruled England from 1689 to 1702 but he could not say—as the Stuart kings had said—that he was chosen by God to rule England. He had to get along with Parliament; he had to recognize Parliament, and as a result England achieved popular sovereignty during his reign.

In accordance with a legislative act of 1752, the eastern boundary of Orange County extended from the Virginia line near Hico Creek to the Bent of Eno River, below the Occaneechas, near to the Plantation where John Williams now dwelleth (near the present site of Hillsborough); then down the South side of Eno River, to Neuse River; thence down Neuse River, to the Mouth of Horse Creek; thence a direct line to the Place where Earl Granville's Line crosses Cape Fear River; thence along the said (Granville) Line, to the Eastern Bounds of Anson County.²

¹ Part of this chapter was published as chapter III in the volume, Orange County 1752-1952, which was edited by Hugh Lefler and Paul Wager.

² State Records of North Carolina (16 vols.; Winston and Goldsboro, 1895-1906), XXIII, 383. Hereafter cited as State Records.

By a change in 1753, the eastern boundary of Orange ran twenty miles west³ of Granville County courthouse, from the Virginia line south to the Neuse River.

During colonial days a frontier county had no definite western boundary; it extended as far west as there were settlers. The creation of Rowan County in 1753 gave Orange its first definite western boundary. Its boundaries were then Virginia on the north, the Granville Line—35° 34'—on the south, Granville County on the east, and Rowan on the west.

There have been many subtractions from Orange; originally it included the present counties of Orange, Chatham, Caswell, Person, and Alamance; and portions of Wake, Lee, Guilford, Randolph, Rockingham, and Durham. Lee was organized in 1907 and its northern boundary ran into Chatham. The segment of Orange which was added to Johnston in 1761 was later incorporated into Wake County. According to a letter from Governor Tryon to the Earl of Hillsborough, Guilford was formed in 1771 from Orange and Rowan in order to separate the "Insurgents"⁴ during the Regulators' uprising.

Chatham County was carved from southern Orange, April 1, 1771, with its northern boundary sixteen miles south of Hillsborough. Wake was formed March 12, 1771 from segments of Johnston, Cumberland, and Orange. As early as 1770 the inhabitants of northern Orange petitioned the General Assembly for another new county but Caswell was not created until June 1, 1777. The dividing line between Orange and Caswell ran twelve miles north of Hillsborough. Eastern Caswell was organized as Person County in 1792. Randolph, established in 1779, took in part of Chatham County and, therefore, territory that was once Orange. The eastern portion of Rockingham County, which was formed from Guilford in 1785, was also originally in Orange.

³ Ibid., XXIII, 391.

⁴ Colonial Records of North Carolina (10 vols.; Raleigh, 1886-1890), VIII, 527. Hereafter cited as Colonial Records.

The creation of Alamance was agitated for from 1836 to 1849. The first proposal for a new county was overwhelmingly defeated in 1836 by a county referendum, even in districts that were later embodied in Alamance.⁵ Citizens of western Orange then worked to create sentiment for a new county. In public meetings they emphasized the fact that western Orange had industry, and eastern Orange was an agricultural area. The political leaders of eastern Orange maintained that a large county insured greater justice in the courts since jurors were less likely to know the parties concerned. They insisted that "Orange (was) too large to be influenced by large and wealthy families, by town influences, corporation influences, or any other influence except the public good."⁶ They further argued that the tax rate was less in a large county since a large number of landowners contributed to the county budget. When a new courthouse was suggested for Orange County in 1842, it was vigorously opposed by the Alamance agitators. The creation of Alamance County was finally approved by the legislature in 1849 and by a county referendum April 19, 1849, the county vote being 1,257 to 1,001.⁷ The dividing line between Orange and Alamance lay nine miles west of Hillsborough. On June 4, 1849, the first Pleas and Quarter Session of the Alamance County Court convened in Providence Meeting House.⁸

One other subtraction was made from Orange territory when portions of Orange and Wake united to form Durham County in 1881. The townships of Durham, Patterson, Lebanon, Mangum, and Little River were incorporated in the new county and lost to Orange. The cotton and tobacco farmers of the eastern section of Orange looked to Durham as their market; trading language used by most Indians and by their medicine men for sacred ceremonies.¹³ Recent excavations at the bend of the Eno River, one mile east of Hillsborough, indicate that the Oconeechee were traders. Copper beads probably from Lake Superior, glass beads from Europe, and shell beads from the Atlantic coast were found.

The excavations near Hillsborough further reveal that the Oconeechee lived in round and oval houses made of saplings bent and lashed together at the top and covered with bark or sod. A conoidal jar of pottery was found at the entrance to an unusual alcove grave in which one body rested.¹⁴

John Lawson described the Eno as particularly thrifty. Quantities of food filled their cabins; barbecued and fried venison and bear hung as tapestry on their walls. Poultry was saved for sacrifice to the devil. Their desire for possessions earned for the Eno a reputation for thievery; however, travelers welcomed them as guides. John Lederer noted their interest in sports.

* This explains how John Lederer (see - - - - -) was of 14
Lancaster & SC.

(re: Oconeechee Trail)

When Orange County became the home of European immigrants during the middle of the eighteenth century, the only traces of an earlier occupancy were cleared fields, well-blazed paths, and archeological remains. There was the Old Oconeechee Trail, or Trading Path, which led southwestward from Bermuda Hundred on the James River to Augusta, Georgia. The Path led from the James to Old Fort Henry, later Petersburg, thence to Oconeechee Island in the Roanoke River. It then passed through the present counties of Granville and Durham to Hillsborough and the Hawfields, and from thence to the old Trading Ford on the Yadkin. From this point, north of Salisbury, it moved southward to the Catawbas, and finally to the Congaree post at the present site of Augusta. *

Norma,

This is a name you can help me bring forward. This Flatt Rv.
I am not sure where it is.

My G.G. grandma is Margaret Dickens from

The Earliest European Settlers.

"To Lancaster and York counties, in Pennsylvania, North Carolina owes more of her population than to any other known part of the world."¹⁵ The great migration from Pennsylvania came in the middle of the eighteenth century. Scotch-Irish and German immigrants, who found the price of land too high in Pennsylvania, journey through the Shenandoah Valley to Piedmont North Carolina. From 1745 to 1760 land was granted along the creeks and rivers in every part of Orange County. Grants on New Hope Creek are recorded for Bladen County as early as 1745 and along Deep River in 1749. According to the Granville records there were grants on the Hico in northern Orange in 1748, and along the Dan River and Hogan and County Line creeks in 1751. The first grants on the Eno River in central Orange are dated 1751.¹⁶

The Eno settlement, about seven miles north of Hillsborough, was the most distinct Scotch-Irish settlement in Orange County; but the Scotch-Irish were also along the Haw River and in the Little River and New Hope sections. Kirklands and Freelands were among the first white settlers to cultivate the Hawfields. Samuel Strudwick was granted some 30,000 acres in that old Sissipahaw area in 1761 to liquidate a debt that George Burrington, the first royal governor, owed Strudwick.¹⁷ William Blackwood's grant on Buffalo Creek was entered in the Land Grant office in 1752; Gilbert Strayhorn's on Prestwood Creek, in 1755. Alexander Mebane, the first sheriff of Orange County, owned land along Cain Creek. James Hunter had grants on Stinking Quarter and Sandy creeks. James Stockard's land was in the Back Creek section and William Montgomery's was on the Buckhorn. There were Scotch-Irish in what is now Guilford County before 1756, for in that year they founded Buffalo Presbyterian Church. Alamance Presbyterian Church was organized in 1762.

Mark Morgan held a land grant in the New Hope area as early as 1747; William Craig and Richard Caswell by 1756. Hogans and Freelands also settled in that section. Charles White, the progenitor of the Whites of Orange County, located in what is now Chatham County. Cumberland was the principal North Carolina home of the Scotch Highlander; however, southern Orange, which later became Chatham County, also had Highland families.

Quakers constituted a considerable portion of the population of Orange County. In 1755 Orange returned 950 white taxables but listed only 490 on its militia list;¹⁸ a fact which would indicate an unusually large number of non-combatants for a frontier settlement. There were Quakers in the Cain Creek and Stinking Quarter Creek areas, also north of Hillsborough, as well as in sections of Chatham and Randolph counties. Jonathan Lindley of the Cain Creek area and William Courtney of Hillsborough were prominent pioneers of the Quaker faith.

English emigrants from Virginia settled in northern Orange along the Hico River and County Line Creek. Thomas Lloyd, one of the first representatives from Orange County to the General Assembly, was foremost among the Welsh who built homes between Hillsborough and the Chatham line. His grant on Mark Creek bears the year 1757. South Ireland near Stoney Creek in present Alamance County indicates the presence of another group from the British Isles.

Germans held deeds to land west of Haw River. Migrating in congregations, their first settlers in the decade of the forties were Lutherans. Ludwig Clapp's grant on the Alamance was issued in 1752. Michael Holt owned vast possessions along the Great and moreover, they anticipated more efficient court service from their new county. The townships of Wake County that joined Durham County desired relief from a heavy county debt.⁹

Today Orange County has an average length north and south of 25½ miles, an average width of 15½ miles, with an area of 400 square miles or 256,000 acres. It is bounded on the north by Caswell and Person counties, on the south by Chatham, on the west by Alamance, and on the east by Durham.

Indians.

Present names in Orange County imply the sites of former Indian settlements: the "Hawfields," along the Haw River, were once cultivated by the Sissipahaw; another tribe is recalled in the name of the Occoneechee Mountains, south of Hillsborough; and the Eno River brings to mind the Eno tribe that lived near Durham and Eno Town. The Saura dwelt in the Dan River region near Wentworth in Rockingham County; the Keyauwee were along Carraway Creek about seven miles west of Asheboro in Randolph County.

These five tribes came to Orange County during the latter part of the seventeenth century and except for the dwarfish Eno, were evidently Siouan. The Occoneechee left their island home in the Roanoke River between 1670 and 1701, probably during the Indian unrest at the time of Bacon's Rebellion. John Lawson found them near the site of Hillsborough when he visited North Carolina in 1701. He did not see the Sissipahaw village, which was south of the Old Trading Path, but in describing their farm land he affirmed that he "had never seen 20 Miles of such extraordinary rich land, lying all together."¹⁰ Lawson visited the Eno village which was near Durham and about fourteen miles from Achonecky, or Hillsborough. The Saura did not come to the

Dan River region until after 1670, for De Soto had found them southeast of Asheville in 1540, and John Lederer placed them in that same locality more than a hundred years later.¹¹

All five were small tribes and all left Orange County before the arrival of European settlers. The Sissipahaw may have numbered 800 in the year 1600. The Occoneechee, together with the Saponi, the Keyauwee, the Tutelo, counted only 750 in 1701. The Eno, Shoccoree, and Adshusheer had a combined population of 1,500 in 1600. In 1715 the Saura were credited with 510 persons, a figure which may have included the Keyauwee. The Sissipahaw were listed in 1715 as allies of the Yamasee against the English.

The Occoneechee confederated with the Tutelo and Saponi tribes and, according to William Byrd, were living at Fort Christanna on the Virginia frontier in 1728. Today a remnant of the Occoneechee may be with the Cayuga in New York state. The Eno and Keyauwee confederated with the Catawbas: the Eno probably about 1720 and the Keyauwee sometime before 1733. When the Saura joined the Catawbas in 1768, they numbered only 50 or 60. They were dwelling on the upper Pedee River, opposite Cheraw, in 1732 and were known as the Cheraw. William Byrd in 1733 described their fallow fields in the Dan River region as "equal in fertility to any in the World."¹² According to Byrd, the Saura fled when they were attacked by the Senecas.

The five tribes were peaceful groups when they lived in Orange County. The Sissipahaw and Saura were farmers in their fertile river areas, away from the main Indian trails. The Occoneechee and Eno, in their settlements along the Old Trading Path, were traders as well as guides for travelers who passed their way. In Virginia and Carolina Occoneechee was the usual

Book B, Page 73: S. C. Camden Dist., Benjamin Blackburn to son John Blackburn a plantation on both sides Great Lynches Creek at the mouth of Tuckahowe, a tract granted to John Armstrong, conveyed to David Griffith, then to Petter Aaron, and from said Peter Aaron to Benjamin Blackburn, all my right and title in bond for said land, for caows, etc. (marks given)...18 July 1778 Benj Blackburn (B) (Seal), Wit: Banum Martin Lewis Faile & William Faile. Prov. by Lewis Faile before Andrew Baskin, 23 July, 1778.

Note: The author said he had a very hard time reading the conveyance, being almost obliterated, but thought he had it right.

This is the only entry in the book of very great significance to us, for it shows that David Griffith had not only owned land in Mecklenburg Co., NC, extending to the SC line, but that in fact his claim seems to have extended across the border into South Carolina if the tracts were contiguous; if not, the tracts were at least in the same general area. (I cannot find a Tuckahowe Creek on the map of NC & do not have a SC atlas.) Anyhow the name of the creek may have changed or it may be too small to be labeled on the atlas.)

As one can see, the property had changed hands from Griffith to Aaron to Blackburn, all before July 1778--but this entry may tell a story if we remember that there was a later Aaron Griffith in Mecklenburg County. Question??? Did Peter Aaron bear any relationship to David Griffith's wife, or an earlier ancestor? Was Aaron Griffith David's son? In other words, was the pious Aaron Griffith our Jonas's nephew? At present I do not see any evidence of a closer relationship but it is something to keep in mind. There is a very remote possibility that Peter Aaron or his parents could be our ancestors, though I wouldn't count on it.

Remembering how badly those backcountry clerks spelled, and having run into several instances of Griffith written Griffey, I've been watching for Griffins as well. My heart did a flip-flop for a while when I came upon the next entries, until I realized they really did mean Griffen (unless they confused Kentucky with Georgia, which I doubt).

✓ (Note: This Jonas Griffin, according to the above, seems to have at one time owned 300 acres or more on Great Lynches Creek, at or on a branch called Flat Creek. It is not clear from this whether or when he disposed of all of it; and, not knowing where Flat Creek was, just how close it was to David Griffith's land. Jonas seems to have been literate, signing his own name whereas many residents signed their initials.

Our Jonas Griffith could not have been in Georgia and Kentucky at the same time. However, in case the spelling of the surname changed in one generation (which I doubt in this case) there is the following to consider: The "three brothers" story says Jonas named sons for himself and his two brothers, David and John.
Ergo, David could have named a son for his brother, Jonas. This is the best I could come up with--not too good, huh?

Following are some other entries which may or may not have any significance. Some concern the Grahams, some Gen. Griffith Rutherford who is said to have "probably" had Griffith relatives in the area, some a Walker family, remembering that there were Walkers from SC who were neighbors of John W. Griffith in Iowa, some just colorful to give an indication of how things were in that place and time.
